INTRODUCTION

These cadastral,or land ownership, maps were drawn up with the owners listed; along with the acreage each owned, for tax purposes. They graphically depict not only the location of the land owned by an ancestor, but also name the neighboring landowners. Migration was usually by groups of families who settled in fairly close proximity to one another. These neighboring families possibly migrated from an earlier place of residence with your ancestor. They may have intermarried, so a search of the neighbors may result in finding the maiden name of a female ancestor.

This publication started with a promise to reproduce an 1840 Atlas of Trumbull County which was donated to the Warren-Trumbull County Library by a member, Mildred Force. The Atlas was in deteriorating condition and would not withstand much handling. It was discovered that the map department of the courthouse had many of these maps redrawn and easier to read.

While copying the 1840 maps, it was found there were many maps in this collection from Map Book #I. Research showed these to be circa 1830 so they were copied and added to the original plan for publication. Unfortunately, none of the townships presently in Mahoning County had been redrawn so older copies had to be found.

Mr. John Burger, another member, then added maps, which he assumed to be for 1850, to the collection for publication. These maps were in all probability drawn about the time of the formation of Mahoning County and the taking off of the two lower tiers of townships which were annexed to that county in 1846. For the sake of continuity we are calling them, 1850.

There is no map for Bloomfield Township in the 1830 collection as the map for that township was a woodland map, showing only the type of trees growing on each division-no names were recorded. Oddly enough, that was the only township found recorded in that manner.

The initials listed without further names have been recorded without attempting to place the initial of the surname first. They have been recorded as found.

Some of the names written on the early maps (1830) are very faint and hardly legible. They are in a different handwriting than the main body of the map. These have been indexed when they were legible enough for us to copy. Some were impossible to read, some we were not sure of --in the latter case we have placed a question mark. These names, in many cases have been written over or crossed out. However, if readable, were included in the index.

In reading these maps, the handwriting was often difficult to read with any degree of accuracy and many times it was obvious letters had been omitted. These were copied as found. The letters i could have been mistaken for a j, h could have been mistaken for a k, L could have been an S, or vice versa.

We must ask you to use your own judgement in reading the names which may be more familiar to you than to those doing the indexing.

INDEX TO TRUMBULL COUNTY, OHIO PLAT MAPS

Typed by Norma Coburn Cape

The following index was compiled by: Loraine Nelson, Betty Ambrose, Clara Davis, Mitzi Fenstermaker, Norma Cape, Betty Morrison and Ruth Allen. All members of the Trumbull County Chapter of O.G.S.

There are names on some of the early maps written in an ink that has badly faded and in many cases the faded name has a line drawn through it. These names are in a different handwriting than the main body of the maps and it is possible they are the names of former owners. We have copied them into our index whenever they were legible enough for us to decipher Some were impossible to read, many we are not certain of our reading as very often the more legible names have been written directly over the faded ones.

In many instances, the middle initial has been omitted from a name to conserve space in this index.

Remember, in handwritten names very often the I and J, the H. and K and especially the L and S are written very much alike and may be confused by the copier. A researcher will be more able to discern the proper reading of an ancestors name so please look at all names and possible spellings when using this index.

The initials that appear on some small parcels of land have been copied as found no surname first designation has been used in this instance.

The page numbers are enclosed in parenthesis ( ) and the following letter and number will be found on the grid surrounding the map. Example: page (28) area on grid F2, etc.
