HISTORY OF RICHLAND COUNTY.

We find the following, in substance, furnished to our hand, which we condense for this work:

On the first of March, 1813—over sixty years ago—Richland county, as such, was organized. It then embraced a territory of thirty miles square. By the creation of Ashland, in 1845, and of Marion, in 1848, the boundaries of the county were reduced to their present limits.

As originally constituted, Richland county consisted of twenty-five townships, surveyed and numbered; but the record shows that several of these were thrown together, forming but three municipalities or election districts, which were known as Madison, Jefferson, and Green townships. On the 9th of August, 1814, another division was made, adding the township of Vermilion, which embraced twelve-by-eighteen square miles of territory in the northeast corner of the county, most of which is now in Ashland county. This left Green with twelve-by-twelve square miles in the southeast, Jefferson with twelve-by-eighteen in the southwest, and Madison with eighteen-by-eighteen in the northwest part of the county. So rapid was the increase of population that these four townships were soon subdivided and new ones formed out of their territory. On the 5th of September, 1814, Troy was formed out of the north half of Jefferson, and Mifflin out of the west half of Vermilion, reducing each to six-by-eighteen square miles. On the 6th of June, 1815, Worthington was organized out of the west half of Green, and Montgomery out of the north two-thirds of Vermilion, which reduced the latter to an original township of six-by-six square miles. On the 14th of March, 1816, Madison was reduced to her present boundaries by the organization of Blooming Grove and Springfield townships. The first was made to embrace twelve-by-eighteen square miles in the northwest, known as Sandusky, two thirds of which is now in Crawford county. On the 3d of June, 1816, Orange township was formed out of the north half of Montgomery, reducing the latter to six-by-six square miles.

Thus, in three years, the number had increased from three to eleven organized townships, four of which contained but thirty-six sections each. The Commissioners afterwards, at different times, added to the number, till, finally, all the townships as originally surveyed and numbered were separately organized.

Richland is one of the finest agricultural counties in the State, and is especially adapted to the growth of fruit. The northern part of the county is level, inclining to clay, and adapted to grass and corn. The remainder is rolling, and adapted to wheat, as well as corn and other grains. The whole county is well watered by streams and springs.

The character and quality of its productions are well indicated by the following statistics from the general reports of the Secretary of State and Auditor General for 1872:

The following summary of the early settlement is furnished by Judge Jacob Brinkerhoff, of Mansfield:

"A large portion of the early settlers of Richland emigrated from Pennsylvania, many of whom were of German origin. It was first settled about the year 1809, on branches of the Mohican. Among the first settlers were Henry McCart, Andrew Craig, James Cunningham, Abraham Baughman, Henry Nail, Samuel Lewis, Peter Kinney, Calvin Hill, John Murphy, Thomas Coulter, Melzar Tannehill, Isaac Martin, Stephen Van Schoick, Archibald Gardiner, and James McClure. About this time also came the Gass's, the Watsons, the Leedies, the Newmans, the Coffinburies and others.

"During the war of 1812 a great number of Pennsylvania volunteers traversed the backbone region of Ohio on their way to the relief and support of General Harrison, on the line of the Maumee. They observed the gentle swell of its fertile uplands; the fatness of its intervening valleys; the magnificence of its hickories, oaks, and black walnuts; its copious springs and abounding streams; and when the war came to an end, emigrants from Pennsylvania poured into and appropriated the region which as soldiers they had traversed and admired. Hence the substratum of the population became the Pennsylvania-German—either Lutheran or Reformed, and Pennsylvanian Calvinistic Scotch-Irish. The former was the better judge of the qualities of the soil, and the more careful and skillful cultivator of it. It is owing to the larger preponderance of this element in their population that our neighbors of Wayne and Stark counties are so renowned in agriculture. The Pennsylvania-German county of Stark is the best cultivated county of Ohio, and the Pennsylvania-German county of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, is the best cultivated county in the United States of America. But, in public spirit, and in appreciation of the importance of private and public education, the Scotch-Irish were superior. In the intermingling of the two elements, enterprise and conservatism, materialism and idealism, were happily balanced and blended; and it would be hard to find a more desirable population than was furnished by their combination. To these have been added, in minor proportions, the more cosmopolitan elements of the Marylander, the Jerseyman, and New Yorker, with now and then a New Englander, with his acuteness, smartness, pushing enterprise, and passion for what he deems progress and improvement; and who, notwithstanding his ever present and somewhat ludicrous assumption that everything good which ever came over the Atlantic came in the Mayflower and landed at the New England blarney-stone of Plymouth Rock, has made himself a valuable and valued ingredient in our population.

"Last of all came the great wave of emigration of the European-German, with his indefatigable industry and marvelous economy and thrift; his passion for the ownership of real estate enough to absolve him from the payment of rent; his skill in mechanics, agriculture and horticulture; and his universal instruction in the primary departments of letters and science. He has proved himself to be the friend of common schools, of civilization, of order and law."

In connection with the early history of the county, some reminiscences of the Indians may not be uninteresting. We give the following, furnished us by Gen. R. Brinkerhoff:

"In September, 1812, shortly after the breaking out of the late war with Great Britain, two block-houses were built in Mansfield. One stood about six rods west of the old Court House, and the other a rod or two south. The first was built by a company commanded by Captain Shaffer, from Fairfield county, and the other by a company of Colonel Charles Williams, of Coshocton. A garrison was stationed at the place until after the battle of the Thames.

"At the commencement of hostilities, there was a settlement of friendly Indians, of the Delaware tribe, at a place called Greentown, about twelve miles south-east of Mansfield, within the present township of Green. It was a village consisting of some sixty cabins, with a council-house about sixty feet long, twenty-five feet wide, one story in height, and built of posts and clapboarded. The village contained several hundred persons. As a measure of safety, they were collected, in August, 1812, and sent to some place in the western part of the State, under protection of the Government. They were first brought to Mansfield, and placed under guard near where the tan-yard now is, on the Run. While there a young Indian and squaw came up to the block-house, with a request to the Chaplain, Rev. James Smith, of Mount Vernon, to marry them after the manner of the whites.

"There was living at this time, on the Black Fork of the Mohican, about half-a-mile west of where Petersburg now is, a Mr. Martin Ruffner. Having removed his family for safety, no person was with him in his cabin, excepting a bound boy. About two miles south-east stood the cabin of the Seymours. This family consisted of the parents—both very old people—a maiden daughter, Catharine, and her brother Philip, who was a bachelor.

"One evening Mr. Ruffner sent out the lad to the creek bottom to bring home the cows, when he discovered four Indians and ran. They called to him, saying they would not harm him, but wished to speak to him. Having ascertained from him that the Seymours were at home, they left, and he hurried back and told Ruffner of the circumstance, upon which he took down his rifle and started for Seymour's. He arrived there, and was advising young Seymour to go to the cabin of a Mr. Copus, and get old Mr. Copus and his son to come up and help take the Indians prisoners, when the latter were seen approaching. Upon this young Seymour passed out of the back door, and hurried to Copus', while the Indians entered the front door with their rifles in hand.

"The Seymours received them with an apparent cordiality, and the daughter spread the table for them. The Indians, however, did not appear to be inclined to eat, but soon arose and commenced the attack. Ruffner, who was a powerful man, made a desperate resistance. He clubbed his rifle, and broke the stock to pieces; but he fell before superior numbers, and was afterward found dead and scalped in the yard, with two rifle balls through him, and several fingers cut off by a tomahawk. The old people and daughter were found tomahawked and scalped in the house.

"In an hour or so after dark, young Seymour returned with Mr. Copus and his son, making their way through the woods by the light of a hickory-bark torch. Approaching the cabin, they found all dark and silent within. Young Seymour attempted to open the door, when it flew back. Reaching forward, he touched the corpse of the old man, and exclaimed in tones of anguish, 'Here is the blood of my poor father!' Before they reached the place, they heard the Indians whistling on their powder charges, upon which they put out the light, and were not molested.

"These murders, supposed to have been committed by some of the Greentown Indians, spread terror among the white settlers, who immediately fortified their cabins, and erected several block-houses. Among the block-houses erected was Nail's, on the Clear Fork of the Mohican; Beams' on the Rocky Fork, one on the

"Shortly after this, a party of twelve to fourteen militia from Guernsey county, who were out on a scout, without any authority burnt the Indian village of Greentown, at this time deserted. At night they stopped at the cabin of Mr. Copus, on the Black Fork, about nine miles from Mansfield. The next morning, as four of them were at a spring washing, a few rods from the cabin, they were fired upon by a party of Indians in ambush. They all ran for the house, except Wornock, who retreated in another direction, and was afterwards found dead in the woods, about half-a-mile distant. His body was resting against a tree, with his handkerchief stuffed in the wound in his bowels. Two of the others, George Shipley and John Tedrick, were killed and scalped between the spring and the house. The fourth man, Robert Dye, in passing between the shed and cabin, suddenly met a warrior with his uplifted tomahawk. He dodged and escaped into the house, carrying with him a bullet in his thigh. Mr. Copus at the first alarm had opened the door, and was mortally wounded by a rifle-ball in his breast. He was laid on the bed, and the Indians shortly attacked the cabin. 'Fight and save my family!' he exclaimed, 'for I am a dead man.' The attack was fiercely made, and several balls came through the door, upon which they pulled up the puncheons from the floor and placed against it. Mrs. Copus and her daughter went up into the loft for safety, and the last was slightly wounded in the thigh, from a ball fired from a neighboring hill. One of the soldiers, George Lantz, was in the act of removing a chunk of wood to fire through, when a ball entered the hole and broke his arm. After this, he watched and saw an Indian put his head from behind a stump. He fired, and the fellow's brains were scattered over it. After about an hour, the Indians having suffered severe loss, retreated. Had they first attacked the house, it is probable an easy victory would have been gained by them.

"Mr. Levi Jones was shot by some Greentown Indians in the northern part of Mansfield, in the succeeding autumn, somewhere near the site of Riley's Mill. He kept a store in Mansfield, and when the Greentown Indians left, refused to give up some rifles they had left as security for debt. He was way-laid, and shot and scalped. The report of the rifles being heard in town, a party went out and found his body much mutilated, and buried him in the old grave-yard.

"After the war, some of the Greentown Indians returned to the county to hunt, but their town having been destroyed, they had no fixed residence. Two of them, young men by the names of Seneca John and Quillpetoxe, came to Mansfield one noon, had a frolic in Williams' tavern, on the site of the North American Hotel, and quarreled with some whites. About four o'clock in the afternoon they left, partially intoxicated. The others, five in number, went in pursuit, vowing revenge. They overtook them about a mile east of town, shot them down, and buried them at the foot of a large maple on the edge of the swamp by thrusting their bodies down deep in the mud. The skeletons remain to this day. The place is known as 'Spook Hollow.'"

COURT HOUSE.

At the dedication of the New Court House, on the 22d of January, 1873, Gen. R. Brinkerhoff, the orator of the occasion, gave as follows the history of the

OLD COURT HOUSE:

"Sixty years ago, and the place where we now stand was a forest. Nearly the whole State of Ohio was a howling wilderness. Wild animals and wilder men roamed its hills and peopled its valleys. It was only here and there, at long intervals, that the smoke of a settler's cabin, or the sound of settler's ax, indicated the presence of a coming civilization.

"On the 1st day of March, 1813, nearly sixty years ago, the county of Richland, as such, was organized. There was a small settlement in the present boundaries of Worthington township, which, so far as I can learn, was the first in the county. There was another in Millin; another in Jefferson, and still another in Troy. In Mansfield a few cabins had gathered around the two block-houses, which then stood upon the public square.

"The war of 1812 had let loose the savages upon the settlers, and hence these block-houses had been built. One of these block-houses was made of round logs, and stood on the west side of the square. The other was of hewn logs, and stood on the north side, near the present site of the Old Court House.

"The township of Madison was organized in 1810, but the village of Mansfield was laid out and platted a year earlier. In 1810, when the Weldon family came here, there were eight or nine families in the township. Among them were Jacob Newman, George Coffinberry, Michael Newman, Winn Winship, Joseph Middleton and Andrew Pearce. Of these original settlers none are now living.

"During the three succeeding years, and until the close of the war, the influx of emigration was not very great, but still there were people enough to require some means for the administration of justice, and, therefore, Andrew Coffinberry was appointed Justice of the Peace. I have no means of ascertaining the population at the time, but it certainly could not have been much over five hundred. Still, limited as it was, there was an evident occasion for some local means for a more extended enforcement of the laws of the State. This need resulted in the establishment of a Court of Common Pleas at Mansfield, and the occupancy of the block-house on the north side of the square as a Court House. The preliminary arrangements for this important event are officially narrated and preserved in the Commissioner's records. Under date of July 10th, 1813, it states that 'the Commissioners proceeded to examine the block-house in Mansfield, and to order the same to be prepared for the reception of the Court, and that the lower part of the same be prepared for the reception of prisoners as a jail. And do further order that the said lot of carpenter work be sold to the lowest bidder, on the 24th day of July, inst., which sale is advertised accordingly.

"Ordered that said work be done in the following manner, to-wit: two floors of solid hewn timber, of the thickness of at least six inches, to be squared and jointed in a workman-like manner; and on the outside stairway with a platform at the head thereof of a suitable size, and a door to enter the upper story therefrom, with suitable casings and hinges for the same; and a glass window containing twelve lights of glass, cased in like manner as the door, and suitable seats for the Court; and a latch for the upper door and lock and chain for the lower door, with iron hinges for the same, all of which work and preparations must be done in a workman-like manner."

"On the 4th of August following, we have the records, that the bids were opened, and that Mr. Luther Coe was the lucky man, his bid being forty-six dollars. The contract was awarded to him with an additional one for the construction of a hand rail, for the outside stairway for which he was to receive two dollars.

"On the seventh of September following, Mr. Coe having completed his contract, received his pay by 'an order on Winn Winship, the Agent for James Hedges, for the amount of the consideration agreed upon, being forty-eight dollars, which is ordered to be paid out of a certain donation, which the said Hedges agreed to pay for the use of public buildings in the town of Mansfield.'"

"The first session of the Court was held on Saturday, the 28th day of August, 1813. The Associated Judges only were present, viz: Thomas Coulter, William Gass and Peter Kinney. The only business of the Court was the appointment of Jonathan Coulter and Rebecca Boyd as Administrators of Levi Jones, who had been murdered by the Indians the previous year, and who was the first merchant in Mansfield. Winn Winship, George Coffinberry and Rolin Weldon were appointed appraisers of the property of said Levi Jones.

"On the 9th of September following, the Associate Judges again organized the Court, and held a two days' session. The last will and testament of Jacob Newman was presented, proved and ordered to be recorded. Andrew Coffinberry and James McClure were appointed and qualified as Executors, giving bond in the sum of ten thousand dollars. On the same day the Court 'ordered that Ruth Trucks and Abraham Trucks, wife and son of the late Nicholas Trucks, deceased, do obtain letters of administration on the estate of the late Nicholas Trucks, deceased.'"

"The next day, September 10th, the Court 'ordered that the Treasurer pay Samuel McClure twelve dollars and twenty-five cents, for seven days' service as Commissioner. Also nine dollars and twenty-five cents to Melzer Tannehill, for five days' service as Commissioner. Also fourteen dollars to Samuel Watson for eight days' service as Commissioner.'"

"The record then proceeds as follows: 'The Court proceeded to the appointment of a permanent Clerk of said Court, the ballots being examined, Winn Winship was clearly elected to the office.'"

"The Court then proceeded to the appointment of a Recorder. 'The ballots being opened and examined, Andrew Coffinberry was found to be clearly elected.'"

"The Court proceeded to the election of a County Surveyor, and the ballots being opened and examined, it was found that William Biddle was duly elected. These several officers were then sworn in, and the Court adjourned.

"The first record we have of a session of the Court, at which all the Judges were present, is as follows: 'A Court of Common Pleas, held in Mansfield, on Thursday, January 15, 1814; present—the Honorable William Wilson, President, Peter Kenny, Thomas Coulter and James McClure, Associate Judges, which last produced his commission and took his seat.'"

"The following Grand Jury appeared and took their seats, and after being qualified and received their charge, retired: Isaac Pearce, foreman, George Coffinberry, Chushty Brubaker, Thomas Lofland, Samuel Hill, Amariah Watson, George Campbell, Hugh Cunningham, Melzar Tannehill, Ebenezer Rice, Wm. Slater, Wm. Biddle, Solomon Lee and Rolin Weldon.'"

The present magnificent Court House was begun in the fall of 1870, and was finished and dedicated January 22d, 1873. It is a fine structure, in the French style of architecture, very elegantly and elaborately finished, and convenient in its interior arrangements. It was erected at a cost, including ground and furniture, of $220,000.

The following is a list of the County Officers for 1873:

GEORGE W. CEDDES and DARIUS DURLIN—Judges of the Court of Common Pleas.

HENRY KEITH—Judge of the Probate Court.

GEORGE B. HARMON—Clerk of the Court.

R. H. ROWLAND—County Treasurer.

MARCUS McDERMOTT—County Auditor.

R. B. McCROY—Prosecuting Attorney.

ROBERT MOORE—Sheriff.

A. H. LITTLER—Recorder.

W. H. RACE—Coroner.

JOHN NEWMAN—County Surveyor.

JOHN T. KEITH, WILLIAM R. NEWBON and JOSEPH BOALS—County Commissioners.

CHRISTIAN WARD, WILLIAM FROST and WILLIAM FOSB—Infirmary Directors.

We give a list of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Ohio, who have been residents of Richland county:

1. THOMAS W. BARTLEY was one of the first five judges elected under the constitution of 1851. His first term of office commenced on the 9th of February, 1852; his second term on the 9th of February, 1854, and lasted five years—making his whole period seven years.

2. JACOB BRINKERHOFF, who still resides in Mansfield. His first term commenced February 9th, 1856, and by successive re-elections served three full terms of five years each—making in all fifteen years on the Supreme Bench of the State.

Two citizens of Richland county have served in the capacity of Governors of Ohio, viz: HON. MORDECAI BARTLEY, and his son, THOMAS W. BARTLEY. The latter was Governor before the former. He was President of the State Senate on the resignation of Gov. Wilson Shannon, who resigned in order to become Minister to Mexico, and, according to the Constitution of the State, became Governor for the remaining portion of Governor Shannon's term. In the meantime, his father had been elected Governor by the people, and it became the duty of the son to induct him into his office, which he did in due form, according to the State Constitution. They were on opposite sides of politics, the father being the popular candidate of the Whig party, the son an earnest and leading Democrat. Still, though the political contest ran high in those days, they never jarred or violated the amenities of the kindred relations existing between them. Governor Mordecai Bartley was one of the best men of his time, and universally respected for his efficiency and integrity.

We have not a list of the Members of Congress and Senators of the United States from this county, or we would gladly give them a place with the rest of the honored sons of "Old Richland."

Our sketch of Richland county would hardly be considered passable without some notice of an eccentric character who was probably one of its greatest benefactors. We refer to Jonathan Chapman, popularly known as Johnny Applesseed. A pamphlet in our hands gives the following account of him:

"Among those whose names stand conspicuous in the memorials of the early settlers, is that of Jonathan Chapman, but more usually known as Johnny Applesseed. Few were more widely known or more extremely useful to the pioneers than this blameless and benevolent man. The evil that he did, if any, appears not to have been known; the good that he accomplished was not 'interred with his bones,' but 'lives after him,' and bears its annual fruit over a surface of over one hundred thousand square miles—extending from the Ohio river to the Northern chain of lakes. Few men as unpretending have been more useful to their race in their day and generation. Many of the best orchards now in Richland county are of trees which had their first growth in his forest and envied nurseries.

"There were several of these nurseries within the bounds of Richland county. One of them was located within the present limits of the city of Mansfield, a short distance south-east of the transfer house of the Atlantic & Great Western and Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroads. Two or three of the original trees are still remaining.

"The Hon. John H. James, of Urbana, in a series of letters addressed to the Cincinnati Horticultural Society 'On Early Gardening' in the west, and printed in the Cincinnati daily papers, says: 'I first saw Johnny Applesseed in 1826, and have since learned something of his history. He came to my office in Urbana, bearing a letter from the late Alexander Kimmont. The letter spoke of him as a man generally known by the name of Johnny Applesseed, and that he might desire some counsel about a nursery he had in Champaign county. His case was this: Some years before, he had planted a nursery on the land of a person who gave him leave to do so, and he was told that the land had been sold, and was now in other hands, and that the present owner might not recognize his right to the trees. He did not seem very anxious about it, and continued walking to and fro as he talked, and at the same time continued eating nuts. Having advised him to go and see the person, and that on stating his case he might have no difficulty, conversation turned. I asked him about his nursery, and whether the trees were grafted. He answered 'No!' rather decidedly, and said that the proper and natural mode was to raise fruit trees from the seed.

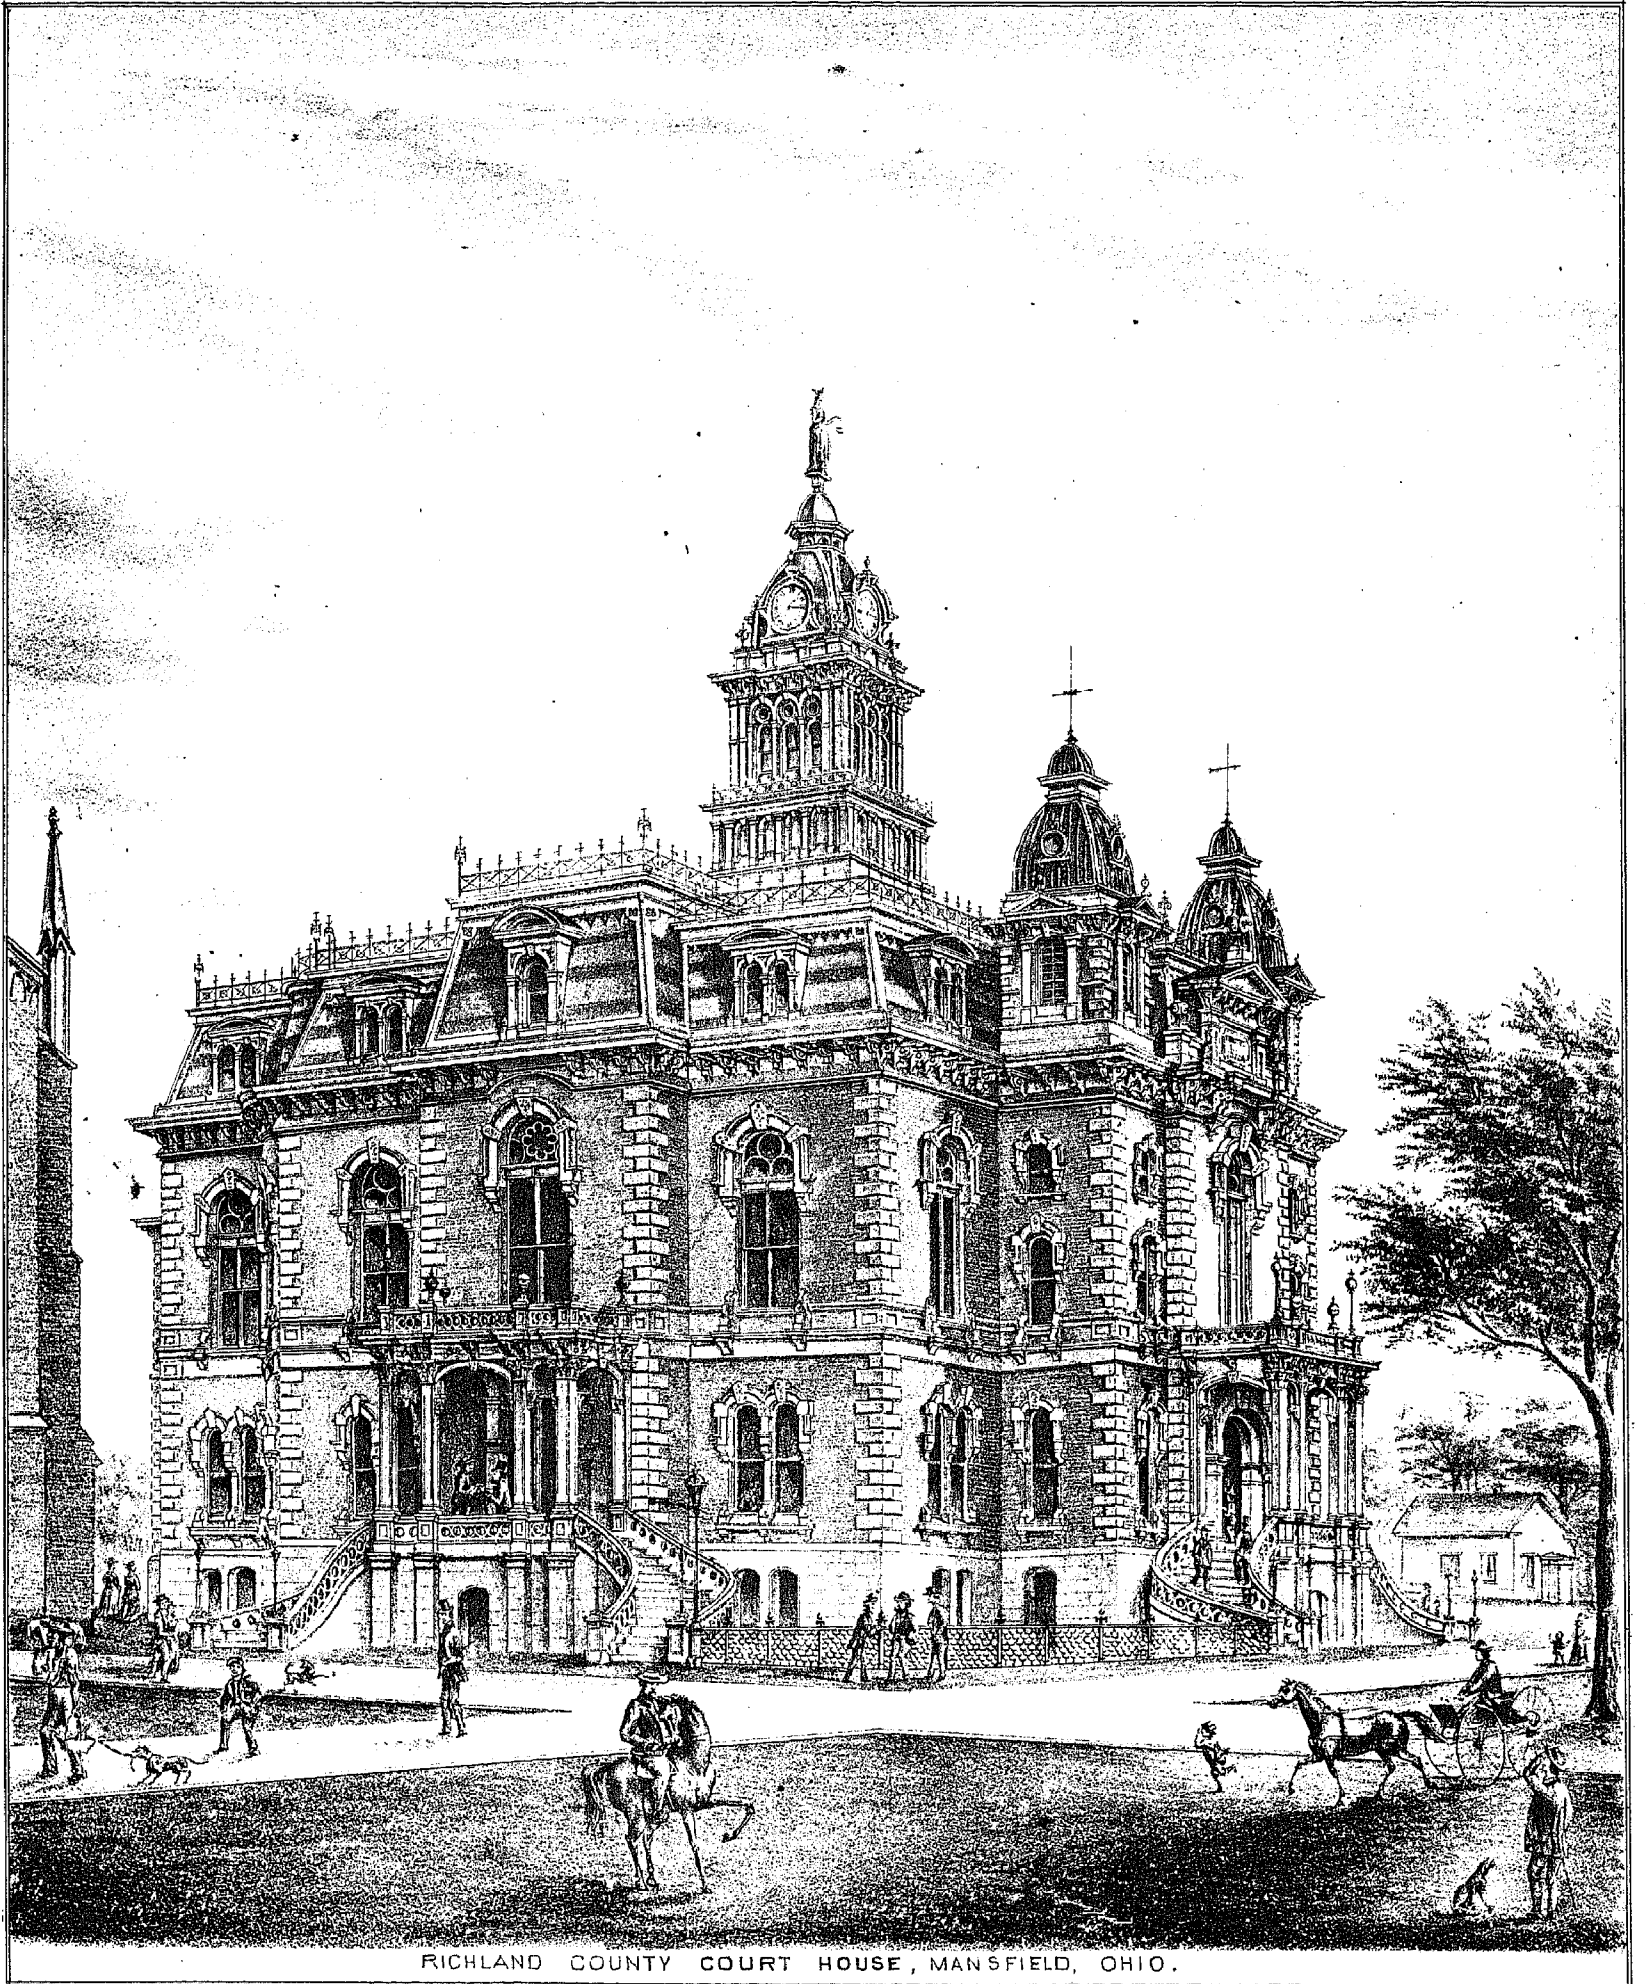

"He seemed to know much about my wife's family, and whence they came, and this was on account of their church. He did not ask to see them, and on being asked whether he would like to do so, he declined, referring to his dress, that he was not fit, and he must yet go some miles on his way. He was of moderate height, very coarsely clad, and his costume carelessly worn. His name, as I heard afterward, was Jonathan Chapman.

"In 1801 he came into the territory with a horse-load of apple-seeds, gathered from the cider-presses in western Pennsylvania. The seeds were contained in leathern bags, which were better suited to his journey than linen sacks, and, besides, linen could not be spared for such a purpose. He came first to Licking county, and selected a fertile spot on the bank of Licking Creek, where he planted his seeds. I am able to say that it was on the farm of Isaac Stadden. In this instance, as in others afterward, he would clear a spot for his purposes and make some slight enclosure about his plantation—only a slight one was needed, for there were no cattle roaming about to disturb it. He would then return for more seeds, and select other sites for new nurseries. When the trees were ready for sale, he left them in charge of some one to sell for him, at a low price, which was seldom or never paid in money, for that was a thing the settler rarely possessed. If people were too poor to purchase trees, they got them without pay. He was at little expense, for he was ever welcome at the settlers' houses.

"In the use of food he was very abstemious, and one of my informants thinks that he used only vegetable diet. At night he slept, of choice, in some adjoining grove.

"He was a zealous propagator of the doctrines of Emanuel Swedenborg, and he possessed some very old and much-worn copies of some of his works, which he continually lent where he could find persons to read them. It is said that he even divided some of his books into pieces of a few sheets each, and would leave the fragments at different places in succession, and would diligently supply the parts, as if his books were in serial numbers.

"Nearly all the early orchards in Licking county were planted from his nursery. He also had nurseries in Knox, in Richland and in Wayne counties. As new counties opened, he moved westward, and he was in Crawford county about the year 1832, after which I trace him no further, until I learned of his death, at Fort Wayne. The physician who attended him in his last illness, and was present at his death, was heard to enquire what was Johnny Applesseed's religion—he would like to know, for he had never seen a man in so placid a state at the approach of death, and so ready to go into another world."

HISTORY OF MANSFIELD, SHELBY, &c.

MANSFIELD.

This is one of the principal cities of Northern-Central Ohio. It is situated among the foot hills of the Alleghenies, on the very backbone of the great wheat belt, and upon four trunk lines of Railroad, East, West, North and South—a Railroad system radiating by means of direct lines and connections to every point of the compass.

It may be well to give a brief sketch of the rise and progress of this city, and to that end we condense the following from records and documents already existing:

The town of Mansfield was surveyed and platted in June, 1808. The original proprietors were Joseph Larwell, James Hedges, and Jacob Newman. The survey and plat of the town were made by Jared Mansfield, father of Edward D. Mansfield, of Warren county, late Commissioner of Statistics for the State of Ohio, after whom the town was named, and as a farther token of respect the proprietors made him a gift-deed of a lot fronting on the north side of the public square—lot No. 200.

In 1810 there were in Mansfield, and within the bounds of the township of Madison, eight or nine families; among them were Jacob Newman, George Coffinberry, Michael Newman, Winn Winship, Rolin Weldon, Joseph Middleton, and Andrew Pierce. Of these original settlers none are now living.

The first male white child born in the town was Mansfield H. Gilkison, who is at present Acting Sheriff of Richmond county. His father was John C. Gilkison and his mother a daughter of George Coffinberry. John C. Gilkison and his brother James established the first printing office in Mansfield. The first marriage was that of John Pugh to Fannie Murphy, daughter of Asa Murphy, one of the earliest pioneers of Richland county. The first school was taught by Andrew Coffinberry. It was a "subscription school," as all schools were in those days. The teacher drew up an article stating the conditions upon which he would teach by the quarter per scholar, and at the end of the term would present the article to each subscriber and receive his pay.

The first Justice of the Peace in Mansfield was Andrew Coffinberry, and the first process issued by him was against his own brother George for chopping on Sunday, which seems to have been the inauguration of Sabbath-keeping; for previous to this, Sunday was unknown save as a day of sports, such as fishing, hunting, shooting at a mark, and pitching quoits. Shortly after this a Methodist Society was organized and a church built in the east part of the village. Rev. William Jones was the principal preacher. After that time churches began to flourish; also the ordinary vices of civilization; among others, intemperance, to check which the settlers assembled on a certain occasion and enacted a law that "every man who got drunk should dig up a stump." The result was that in a short time the public square was almost entirely cleared of stumps. An anecdote is told in connection with this matter which is worth preserving: On the morning after the passage of the law referred to, a man by the name of Henry T. Bell was seen chopping on the square, and some one asked him, "What, Bell! have you been drunk?" He replied, "No, not yet, but I expect to be before night, and as I hate to be in debt, I am making payment in advance."

As near as can be ascertained Jacob Newman did the first chopping in Mansfield, and Winn Winship erected the first frame building. No saw-mill contributed its products, or planing-mill, or sash and blind factory. The frame was all hewed out and the siding split and shaved. No grist-mill had yet been erected. For grain and grinding the settlers went to Frederick and Mt. Vernon, Knox county. The only means of transport was on horseback, and it took two days to make the trip with two bushels of grain. The only stopping place on the way was at James McClure's, on the Clearfork, near Belleville. By the way, this James McClure was one of the first Associate Judges of the Court of Common Pleas for Richland county. Then follow a lot of first things: the first blacksmith was Rolin Weldon; the first tailor, J. Foos; the first shoemaker, Robert Ekey; the first tanyard was started by John Pugh; the first tinner was Samuel Bukias; the first death was that of Eli Murphy; he died in a log tavern kept by his father on the site of the present Wiler House. The first saw-mill was built by Clement and Robert Pollock—a tramp-wheel mill operated by three yoke of oxen, and located a short distance south of the present Presbyterian Church. The first carding-mill was built by Robert Pollock, and was propelled by horse-power.

The early recollections of trade are as follows: The first goods sold in town were sold by Levi Jones, who was afterwards killed by the Indians. He shipped his goods by wagons from Canton, Stark county. The principal currency then in vogue was silver, gold and paper being seldom seen. Coffee brought fifty cents a pound, corn twelve and a half cents a bushel. The first road opened from Mansfield was to Wooster—the next to Mt. Vernon. In 1812 there was a mail carried through from Mt. Vernon to Haron River by one Lewis Facer on horseback. He made the round trip in four days, Mansfield being the stopping place for two nights.

There was but one murder committed in Mansfield in those early days, and that was of Levi Jones by the Indians, referred to above. The first convict sent to the Penitentiary from Mansfield was one Fitch for a term of three years for the crime of forgery.

The following story of revenge upon a poor Indian and squaw we find among the early recollections of the town. It was perpetrated by soldiers, and probably no citizen of Mansfield had any hand in it or approved the cowardly act:

In 1812, when the Indians were removed from Greentown to Urbana, they stayed all night in Mansfield. In the morning the whole party left for Urbana with the exception of one Indian and a squaw, who started for Upper Sandusky. There was a company of soldiers from Coshocton in town at the time under the command of Col. Williams; among them were two men by the name of Morrison and McCullough. The latter had had a brother killed by the Indians at the battle of Brownstown. These two men took their rifles and followed the Indian and squaw on the Sandusky road, and overtaking them about two miles out of town, fired upon them, wounding the Indian badly through the body. They then returned. The Indian ran about forty rods to a stream and laid down in it. Morrison and McCullough on their return told what they had done. All the soldiers then went out and found the Indian yet alive, lying in the water. As they approached he lifted up his hands imploring mercy, but there was no mercy for him. Morrison drew a tomahawk from his belt and handed it to Mc-

Cullough, saying, "Take revenge for your brother's blood." McCullough walked deliberately up and sank the tomahawk in the Indian's skull up to the handle. They then took the body out of the water, and having piled some logs on it, left it for the present and went home, taking along the gun, tomahawk, and other articles belonging to the Indian. Some days after they returned, cut off the head of the Indian, scalped it, and then brought it to town and stuck it up on a pole in the street. It remained there several days, when some one becoming disgusted at the sight, took it down and buried it.

The first families which came to town, with the exception of a few from Southern Ohio, were from Pennsylvania. When Samuel Hill and Rolin Weldon came, they had to cut the road from Greentown to Mansfield. They remained some time at Greentown. About one hundred naked Indians resided there at the time. This was in 1810. In the winter, shortly after the war of 1812, several trains came through from the mouth of the Huron River laden with salt and fish. They were mostly bound for Knox and Licking counties; some, however, remained in Mansfield. Warehouses being scarce, the barrels were stored in a shanty belonging to Win Winship, and not being well salted, as soon as the weather got warm the fish spoiled. Thus thirty barrels of as fine white-fish as ever swam the lakes had to be burned. In good condition they would have sold in Mansfield for sixteen dollars a barrel.

The first doctor that practiced in Mansfield was Royal V. Powers. He came from the East and settled here in 1815.

"The first resident lawyer of Mansfield was John M. May, who died only three years ago, and who is remembered by all as Father May. He came here in 1815, and a few weeks before his death gave a statement of his recollections of those days. In 1815 there were about a dozen houses in the village of Mansfield. On the Sturges' corner there was a small one-story frame building, about 18-by-25 feet in size, and occupied by Dr. Royal N. Powers. During that year E. P. Sturges and Buckingham Sherwood came to town with a stock of goods, and having purchased the house and lot of Dr. Powers, opened up a store. There was, also, a small frame building on the North American corner, occupied by Samuel Williams as a tavern. There was, also, a dwelling house situated on the present site of the Farmers' Bank, owned and occupied by Winn Winship, the first Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas. On the east side of the square, a little north of the present site of the Methodist Church, was a small dwelling house, owned and occupied by James Moore, then Deputy Sheriff of the county. Andrew Coffinberry lived on the southeast corner of East Diamond and Fourth streets, and Samuel Carrothers and family on the northwest corner. A little below, on East Diamond street, was a house occupied by David Stevens. John C. Gilkison lived on Main street, a little north of the Wiler House, and was the first editor and printer in Mansfield. Rolin Weldon lived on Fourth street, west of West Diamond. John Garrison lived on the lots where the Opera House now stands. Joseph Cairns had a rough log building on the northwest corner of Main and Third streets (McFall's corner), and soon after went into the mercantile business. James McClure, one of the Associate Judges, lived on the northwest corner of Main and Fourth streets (Lamberton's corner).

"General Hedges, one of the original proprietors of the town, was also one of the residents of the village."

These early reminiscences, however interesting, cannot occupy all our space. We must now turn from them to present a picture of Mansfield as she is at the present time.

Mansfield, at the last census, had a population of over 8,000 inhabitants, having nearly doubled her population within the last three years. She contains fifteen churches—Baptist, German Baptist, Disciple, Catholic, Congregational, German Evangelical, English Lutheran, German Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, German Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Episcopal, Seceders, and Church of God. Her system of Union Schools cannot be excelled in the country. New buildings have been erected and are in process of erection in each of the wards, which are everything that could be desired in appearance, situation, and convenience of appointments. They are in different parts of the city, so as to be within a short distance of and easily accessible to those whom they are especially designed to accommodate. They are conducted on the most approved plan, and are largely attended. They are supplied with an able and efficient corps of instructors.

The scenery in every direction is beautiful. A gentle diversity of hills and valley, stretching away on every hand. There is nothing tame or lifeless in the landscape. In fact there are points not far away, reached by pleasant drives through a well cultivated and fruitful farming country, where nature approaches grandeur in the wild and vigorous beauty that marks the architecture.

Situated near the most elevated point between the lake and river among the foot hills of the Alleghenies, in a country of rapid drainage, with strong springs of pure soft water gushing from the sand-rocks of her hillsides, Mansfield is free from epidemic, or miasmatic influence, and has a wide-spread reputation for health and the robust physique of her people.

East, northeast, and southeast, within seventy-five miles, lie exhaustless beds of coal of the finest quality, and iron ore abounds within a radius of one hundred miles. Mansfield's railroad system taps this wealth at every point, and brings it to her doors. The cheap transportation in freights, and her easy access by rail and water to the Lake Michigan mineral regions, render her a favorable point for the manufacture of iron.

Mansfield has already large manufactories of agricultural implements, mechanical machinery, wooden utensils, metal castings, etc., and her decided advantages are daily attracting capitalists who desire a favorable point for establishing new manufacturing interests. Within the last two years she has also built up a jobbing trade exceeding three millions of dollars per annum.

Of hard wood, oak, beach, sugar, ash, maple, hickory, and walnut, Richland and adjoining counties have a most abundant supply, whilst the great prairies of the Northwest and western New York and Pennsylvania, by reason of unequal transportation facilities, are the natural and cheap sources of supply of pine, hemlock and cedar.

The hills surrounding Mansfield are full of excellent qualities of building stone, easy to work, and hardening on exposure. A short distance north and west is the famous Sandusky limestone formation, extending from Sandusky through the State. The Ohio State House is constructed of this limestone.

Railroads tap this formation at several points, and cheap and good building stone is one of Mansfield's specialties.

Fuel, from the abundance of timber and the close proximity of the coal fields, with the competition in freights, is as cheap as at any other point.

The home and foreign markets of Mansfield cannot be excelled. Everything she manufactures or that is produced by the soil of the surrounding country, finds instant market at remunerating prices.

The various branches of the Mohicon, which drain the county, furnish ample water power for a large number of grist, saw, and woolen mills. In fact some of the springs discharge such volumes as to furnish constant water power for mills.

The railroad facilities of Mansfield are excelled by no point in the State. The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago gives her an outlet to Chicago and the West, and Pittsburg and the East, traversing a wide extent of country, rich in timber, agricultural, and mineral wealth. The Baltimore and Ohio—Lake Erie Division—brings within easy reach the finest harbor on the Lake, at Sandusky, and opens the door to the extensive lumber regions of eastern Michigan and the commerce of the Lakes; whilst southward it taps the exhaustless coal and mineral region of the Muskingum valley. The Atlantic and Great Western Railway traverses easterly to the rich coal and oil fields of eastern Ohio and Pennsylvania, and south-westwardly to the rich agricultural districts of the Scioto and Miami valleys. All these are trunk lines, and lead to all the great markets of the country.

Besides these, a new railroad, the Mansfield, Coldwater and Lake Michigan, will be completed by the time this book is out, and will tap the fertile north-western counties of Ohio, and penetrating the growing cities and great forests of Michigan, where lumber, plaster, salt, etc., are produced in exhaustless quantities. The shops of this road, to be built at Mansfield, will add largely to her importance and prosperity.

Mansfield is just the place for the employment of energy and capital. She is lighted with gas, and the city water works are complete and give satisfaction. They were erected at a cost of $153,000, and consists of ten miles of pipe, eighty-three double hydrants and seventy-seven valves. The capacity is two millions of gallons per day. She has health, good society, fine residences, and all the means of social, educational, and moral advancement. Her gentle knolls and undulations furnish fine building sites, and her railroads unsurpassed facilities for traffic and intercommunication. In short, she is a pleasant, growing, live little city, with a future.

SHELBY.

This flourishing young city was formerly called Gamble's Mills and was a post-office under that name, but in 1834 it was laid out as a town by Mr. James Gamble under the supervision of his son John Gamble, and called Shelby. In 1854 it became incorporated under the general laws of the State, and William Hiles was the first Mayor, Hanson Mickey, second; John Kingsborough, third; Samuel McMillen, fourth; S. S. Bloom, fifth; S. Trimble, sixth; Solomon Weaver, seventh; and Collin P. Leiter the eighth and present incumbent. The first stock of goods was brought here in 1832 by Charles Post, and opened under the trees in Mr. James Gamble's yard while his store was being built on the northwest corner of Main and Gamble streets. There are now seven churches, five school houses, two printing offices, two banks, four hotels, two foundries, two planing-mills, two saw-mills, two furniture factories, two livery stables, three wagon and carriage factories, one woolen factory, and a large number of warehouses, stores and shops. The City Government in 1873 consists of the Mayor, Collin P. Leiter; Clerk, H. W. Hildebrand; Marshal, Daniel Hawn; Treasurer, H. R. Lyharger, and the Council of six members. The Fire Department was organized July 8th, 1874, with Col. John Dempsey, Chief Engineer; Rod. D. Stober, Foreman; and H. E. McMillen, Secretary, of Leiter Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1. John B. Ward, Foreman, and H. H. Shriner, Secretary, Engine Company No. 1. Jonas Flitner, Foreman, and S. F. Stambaugh, Secretary, Hose Company No. 1. The Board of Education are E. S. Close, Hiram Marion, and Rev. N. H. Loose.

PLYMOUTH

Was laid off May 17, 1825, by Abraham Trucks. It is situated in both Richland and Huron counties, is on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and surrounded by a rich productive agricultural region. It has a weekly newspaper, fine public and private buildings and does a large trade.

SHILOH

Is in Cass township on the C., C. & I. Railroad. It has a population of over 300, and is situated in the midst of a productive farming community and does a good local business.

MAP OF PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP.

The first settlers of Plymouth township were Abram Trux, Daniel Kirkpatrick, Robert Green and John Long, who came in 1815. The next year, John Conklin, Wm. and Daniel Prosser, John Morris, Michael Gipson, Thomas McClure, Lemuel Powers, James Gardner and John Webster, and in 1818 quite a number of families came, and from this time the town began to fill up quite rapidly. The first school house was built of logs, on section 8, in 1818. First church, a large log building, in 1819. The first teacher was Robert McKelvey. First preachers were Rev. Wolf, Presbyterian, and James McIntyre, a Methodist. First marriage was Hugh Long to Mrs. Kate McKelvey. Second was Oliver Granger to Miss Susan Conklin. First death was that of Mrs. Mary Conklin, in 1819. First frame house was built by M. McKelvey. First preaching was at the house of John Conklin, before the church was built. First mill was built by Mr. Blye, in 1820, propelled by horse power. First election was held May 13th, 1818, and Abram Trux was first Justice of the Peace; Stephen Webb, Constable; Thomas McClure, Clerk; Asa Murphy, Treasurer; John Conklin, John Long and Thomas McClure, Trustees. The town was laid out by Abram Trux, John Barney and Lemuel Powers, May 17th, 1825.

P. S.—These dates are verified by records in possession of D. B. Webster. Esq.

MAP OF CASS TOWNSHIP

CASS TOWNSHIP.

The present township of Cass, was until the spring of 1848 a part of Plymouth, being one and the same until set off the year above mentioned, and for its early history reference will be had to Plymouth township, upon another page of this atlas. The first election ordered by the Commissioners after this town was set off from Plymouth, and called by the name of Cass, was on the 30th of December, 1848. The Judges of election were Warren Scranton, John Lacey, F. S. Rose, and Thomas Willett and Reuben Hunt Clerks of the election. The following officers were chosen: Franklin Crael, John Lacer and Warren Scranton were elected Trustees; Thomas Willett, Clerk; I. E. Revier, Treasurer; John Emerson, Assessor; Thomas Craig, Constable. The flourishing village of Shiloh is in this township. T. Boorman, Esq., built the first house in 1853. It now has two churches, one fine brick public school house, one hotel, one printing office, some ten or twelve stores, two brick stores now in process of erection, and one fine church, mechanics of all kinds, surrounded by an excellent country, the C. & I. R. w. passes through it. Altogether this town is assuming the appearance of a city of large and growing trade.

MAP OF BLOOMING GROVE TOWNSHIP

BLOOMING GROVE TP.

This township was first twelve by eighteen square miles, in the northwestern part of the county, and John Henry and Jacob Stoner, and a Mr. McCart were the first settlers, coming there in 1814. In 1815, George Hackett, John Long and William Guthrie came in. They were from Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Peter Marion and John Bell came in 1817. The first marriage was Mr. James Long to Miss Martha Guthrie. Robert Finney taught the first school, in Wm. Guthrie's dwelling house. A log school house was built in 1825, and it is narrated that four children attended there all winter bare-footed. First church was built there in 1827-8. Rev. Mr. Lee and Mr. Robbins were the first Presbyterian ministers. Rev. Henry D. Sheldon was the first Methodist. Population of this town in 1870 was 1199.

J. N. CUSTER.

D. T. CUSTER.

CUSTER & BROTHER, WHOLESALE DEALERS IN HARDWARE AND SADDLERY TRIMMINGS, IRON, NAILS, GLASS, PAINTS, OILS, ETC., MANSFIELD, OHIO.

This is the oldest Hardware Store in the City of Mansfield. It was established by U. Jameson over thirty years ago. Then Bates & Blymyre continued it till 1858. Then F. B. Orr, till 1872. It was then purchased by the present proprietors, who keep a large and complete assortment of everything in the Hardware Trade.

The proprietors of this establishment are among our most substantial business men, and the public will find them prompt, affable, and gentlemanly in all their dealings with their customers.

OLD SETTLERS OF RICHLAND COUNTY, OHIO.

WILLARD SEELEY HICKOX, the subject of this biography, was born in Thornhyke (now Irimfield), Portage county, Ohio, September 18th, 1827. When he was six years old, his father, Joseph W. Hickox, removed to a piece of land which he had entered at the Wooster Land Office, situated one mile east of Loudonville, then in Richland, but now in Ashland county. It was a wild place, with little improvement of any sort, save the rude cabin which afforded them a shelter, and which, till they could obtain something better, they were content to call a home. Willard being the only boy, at that time, in the family, was early initiated into the mysteries of acting his part in the minstrelsy of a new clearing, with black hands and face, without burnt cork, and learned to go to mill astride of a bag of corn when he was scarcely large enough to balance the bag on the horse's back. Here he made himself useful as well as ornamental from the age of six to eleven years, receiving little or no schooling.

In 1838 his father sold out his improvements and engaged in shoemaking in Loudonville. Willard had no taste or ambition for the occupation of a cobbler, and, being thrown out of his accustomed employment, sought work among the neighboring farmers. His first experiment at "hiring out" was with a man by the name of George Webster, who gave him the not altogether congenial job of riding a young horse to plow corn in a stumpy field. He received his pay in hens, Mr. Webster agreeing to give him "a hen a day" for his wages. He thus accumulated quite a stock of hens, the eggs of which he sold for from three to five cents a dozen, which was then the market price. He got along from one thing to another, working at farming till fifteen years of age, and aiding in the support of the family at home. At one time he worked a whole month for a barrel of flour, which he sent home for the family's use. He saved means from his summer's wages to go to school with during the winter months, and thus availed himself of all the opportunity offered to obtain an education.

In the spring of 1842 he came to Mansfield and hired out to do chores at the jail. David Bright was then Sheriff and B. McCarron Jailor. Willard was a very trusty boy and came with a good reputation, and was, therefore, entrusted with the keys of the jail to feed the prisoners, and other responsibilities, to which he always proved faithful. As a boy, he was willing to work at any kind of work for an honest living, and proud if he could do his work well. As a man, in the height of his success and prosperity, he is not ashamed of any work he has ever done. He had the enterprise to start out from home and seek his fortune, with a smooth shilling and a smooth sixpence in his pocket, his whole wardrobe tied up in a cotton handkerchief that cost him twelve and a half cents. The smooth shilling and smooth sixpence he paid to Jefferson Sprangle, now editor and proprietor of the Ashland Union, to make him a chest, which was constructed of half-inch linn wood, used in that day for making coffins, and was painted red. Mr. Sprangle was at that time an apprentice boy in Mr. Blymire's cabinet shop, the same now occupied by Grove & Beard.

He remained at the jail about four months. Judge John Merideth, then County Auditor, took an interest in him and secured him as clerk and chore-boy in his office. He engaged first at six dollars a month and grew in favor and efficiency, so that the next year he got seven dollars a month, and the next year eight dollars, his wages being increased each year till he got twelve and a half dollars a month, which was the highest wages he received till he was twenty-one years of age. In the meantime he saved his money and speculated on a small scale, often making more than the amount of his wages. Being in the Auditor's office, he had frequent opportunities to buy tax titles, which he did to the extent of his means. He would sometimes buy colts, and feed and get them up in good shape and sell them at considerable advance, and sometimes speculate in notes; but his chief profits realized in this way were out of tax titles. He gathered him a little library, worked in the office nights and mornings, slept on the desk where he wrote, and went to school three months in the basement of the old Congregationalist Church, which stood on the site of the present new and elegant edifice on Market street. It was called a select academy, and was taught by Lorin Andrews, afterwards president of Kenyon College, and the late Hon. William Johnson, who afterwards represented this district in Congress.

By the time Mr. Hickox was twenty-one years of age, by these savings and speculations, he had a farm of one hundred acres, all paid for, two miles east of Perryville.

While in the Auditor's office, on the 6th of September, 1848, before he was twenty-one, he was put in nomination for the Auditorship and elected on the second Tuesday in October, having in the meantime attained his majority, and become eligible to the office.

On the 24th day of October, 1848, he was married at Mansfield to Miss Mary Jane Rowland, daughter of Deacon J. M. Rowland. They commenced house-keeping in the house now occupied by Col. Isaac Goss, the house, furniture, and all the appurtenances thereto belonging, costing only one thousand dollars.

Mr. Hickox served as Auditor two terms, being re-elected in 1850.

In 1853 he exchanged his farm first purchased, for what was known as the Clark farm and mills in Troy Township, near Lexington, where he engaged in farming two years, and found the change conducive to a more robust condition of health, which had become somewhat impaired in consequence of his close confinement to office. While here, by appointment and two subsequent elections, he held the office of County Commissioner for a period of seven years, and in the fulfillment of its duties, built the first iron bridge ever erected in the county.

In February, 1855, he was appointed, without application or solicitation on his part, freight and ticket agent of the Ohio & Pennsylvania, now the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, in which capacity he served at Mansfield up to 1860, when he became the general agent for the road in the State of Ohio. He bought largely of the depreciated stock of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, and made handsomely out of it, the road becoming consolidated, and the war making it a paying road.

Mr. Hickox was the first, in connection with T. T. Woodruff, the patentee, and others, to introduce sleeping cars upon the railroads, and organized the Central Transportation Company, whose silver palace cars, contracts, and property, have since passed, by lease, into the hands of the Pullman Palace Car Company.

In 1857 he went to Crestline and took charge of the business of the railroad, acting in the capacity of freight and ticket agent, dispatcher of trains, and paymaster for Ohio, under the Receiver of the road, in which position he remained till after the breaking out of the war of the rebellion.

Up to the breaking out of the war, Mr. Hickox had acted with the democratic party, but at the call of his country old party ties were dissolved. He felt that the salvation of the Union was paramount to all other considerations. He circulated a call for a convention of Union men, without regard to party, which was responded to by a large convention of the county, which appointed delegates to the State Convention at Columbus, which formed the Union party and nominated David Todd for governor, whose triumphant election at that time so largely subserved the Union cause.

After the breaking out of the war, Mr. Hickox served as one of the County Military Committee, appointed by the Governor of the State, to aid in raising and organizing troops and forwarding them to the field. In this he did efficient service.

In the summer of 1862 he was commissioned Lieutenant of an infantry regiment and assigned to duty as Post Quartermaster at Camp Mansfield, under command of Col. C. T. Sherman, and while discharging the duties of this position, received a recruiting commission from Gov. Todd, with authority to enlist men for the organization of the 10th Ohio Volunteer Cavalry. He recruited and reported for duty in that regiment one hundred and ninety-six men, and was commissioned Major of the same on the completion of the organization. They were ordered to rendezvous at Camp Cleveland in October, 1862. Thence they were ordered to the front to join the Army of the Cumberland, at Nashville, Tennessee, about two months after, and were soon marched forward to Murfreesboro. While there, Major Hickox had an attack of typhoid fever and was six weeks confined to the hospital. After recovering partially, in the forward movement he was too actively engaged for his strength, which brought on a relapse, and he was compelled to resign. After returning home and partially regaining his health, in February, 1864, he received a commission, signed by Lincoln and Stanton, as Major of Volunteers, and was assigned to duty as Paymaster in the Department of the Mississippi, under Gen. Febfinger, with headquarters at St. Louis.

In the meantime, while in Washington, he procured a charter for the First National Bank of Mansfield, and, while on his way to his duties at St. Louis, aided in the organization of the same. While at St. Louis, through the urgent solicitations of his friends, he was induced to resign his commission to accept the cashiership of the First National Bank of Mansfield, which was opened for business on the first day of July, 1864. He has been identified with the Bank from that time to the present, first as cashier and director, and for the last six years as president.

During all this time he has been carrying on a farm and giving his personal attention to private business, and is now serving the last year of his third term in the City Council. He has been largely instrumental in securing that great improvement to Mansfield, the Holly Water Works. He was the prime mover in the new railroad now being completed, the Mansfield, Coldwater & Lake Michigan Railroad, and also an important branch of it called the Toledo, Tiffin & Eastern. He is president of these roads.

Mr. Hickox is a member and one of the Executive Committee of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture, and President of the Richland County Agricultural Society, which office he has held since 1869, and has secured the location of the Ohio State Fair in Mansfield for 1872 and 1873.

Since 1864 Mr. Hickox has been teacher of an infant class in the Sunday School of the Market Street Baptist Church, a position which gives him more satisfaction than any other he has ever held. He and Mr. Colby built the church, principally from their own means. He has been a member of the same since Christmas Day, 1842, and is exemplary in his Christian deportment.

It will be seen by this brief record, that Mr. Hickox has had a remarkable career from boyhood up. Starting out for himself at an early age, with no dependence but his own integrity and enterprise, impelled by a worthy ambition and guided by a rare business sagacity, he has made his own way in the world, and attained, chiefly by his own exertion, an enviable position among the leading self-made and successful business men of the day.

His career is, therefore, an example to the young men of the present generation, and illustrates the success that may be attained from the humblest beginning where integrity, persistence, industry, and an honorable ambition, are brought to bear in the common tasks of life. Few boys have started out under more unpromising circumstances, and few men have attained to greater success than Willard S. Hickox.

JABEZ COOK, the subject of this brief record, is one of the early pioneers of Richland county. He is the son of Noah Cook, a native of New Jersey, who emigrated to Washington County, Pennsylvania, when a boy, and was there twice married, and had thirteen children—three by his first wife (Miss Mills), and ten by his second wife, whose maiden name was Sarah Baldwin. Of these ten children the subject of this sketch is the fourth child. He was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, on the 11th of July, 1792, and remained on a farm, attending the common schools of his native place, until about twenty years ago.

When the war of 1812 broke out he entered the army as a member of a volunteer militia company, which was ordered to rendezvous at Meadville, and marched thence to Black Rock, on the Niagara frontier. They had some intention of crossing over and taking Canada, but, as was supposed, through the treachery of their general, were deprived of rendering the campaign illustrious by such an achievement. Mr. Cook was five months in the service, and is now receiving a pension from the Government.

In the spring of 1814 he came with his father to Richland county, near Lexington, and remained with him during the summer. The country was then subject to ague, and Mr. Cook became a victim. He therefore thought it better to return to Pennsylvania. There he married, on the 2d day of March, 1815, Miss Hannah Parson. She was born December 6th, 1794. In the spring of 1815, Mr. Cook, leaving his wife in Pennsylvania, came again to Richland county, and located on a quarter section which had been entered by his father, in Madison township, about two and one-half miles southwest of Mansfield. Here he erected a log cabin on an Indian trail leading from the Wyandotte to the Green-town reservations. Indians were plenty in the country then, and almost every day more or less of them passed by his cabin. They were peaceable, and never molested Mr. Cook or his wife, though they often called at his cabin expecting to get whiskey. The country was at that time a wilderness. There was a road cut through from Lexington to Mansfield, but little improvement had been made in clearing farms.

In this wild spot Mr. Cook went to work to make himself a home. He cleared a farm, raised his family, and remained there until they were all grown up and married off, and then came to live at Mansfield.

The farm Mr. Cook made by his own industry he sold to his son. It is one of the finest farms in the county, and has been awarded the premium by the County Agricultural Society. It is now owned by Mr. Samuel Finney. Mr. Cook and his wife lived on it thirty-nine years before coming to Mansfield in 1853. His son, J. H. Cook, was then keeping the Wiler House, with whom they boarded ten years. Mrs. Cook died March 20th, 1871.

After Mr. Cook sold his farm he laid out his money in city lots, which were then low, and the advance in prices has enabled him to more than double his money on them. He owned at one time seventeen lots, ten of which had houses on them. About two years ago he purchased three-eighths of the property on the south-west corner of the city park, known as the "Old North American," on which the first hotel in Mansfield was built, and, with the other proprietors, has enlarged, remodeled, and fitted it up, making it one of the most slightly and desirable hotels in the city.

In politics Mr. Cook was a Republican long before the formation of the Republican party, having been an anti-slavery man from his earliest recollection. He has also been all his life an advocate of temperance, both in theory and practice. He founded the first temperance society ever organized in Richland county.

Mr. Cook has been an enterprising and public spirited man, taking an active interest in education, and in all measures looking to the progress of the city and county. He took an active part in securing the first railroad to Mansfield, and worked all one summer in superintending the laying of the track.

Mr. Cook has a remarkably clear intellect, is a vigorous thinker and a man of sound and independent judgment. He must know the "whys and wherefores" of things. His mind is subtle and penetrating. He does not take things for granted at second hand, but forms his own original opinions for himself. When he has once thought out a problem, and made up his mind, he is not easily shaken from his position. He can give a "reason for the hope that is in him" with great clearness and cogency of argument. He hates shams and sophism, and is too intellectually honest to pretend to believe what he does not. Love of truth is one of his predominating characteristics.

Mr. Cook is highly esteemed for his integrity by all who know him.

REUBEN EVARTS is a descendant of two old Massachusetts families. His grandfathers, Gilbert Everts and Joel Bigelow, moved to Addison county, Vermont, in 1755, and participated in the Revolutionary war, and here Timothy Everts and Hannah Bigelow, the parents of Reuben Everts, were born, raised, and married. Before the war of 1812 Timothy Everts was a partner in a company owning vessels and doing a transportation business on Lakes Ontario and Champlain. He was settled south of Hamilton, on the Canada side, at the head of the lake, and here the subject of our sketch was born, December 12, 1809. When the war broke out, Timothy Everts and thirteen others were requested to take the oath of allegiance and go into the British army. Upon their refusal they were arrested and paroled, but they were mal-treated, and some murdered by the drunken Indians. This bad faith induced them to attempt an escape to General Harrison's army, in which they were foiled by the betrayal of a cowardly Judas. He is said to have met his reward, not in pieces of silver, but of lead. At the close of the war Mr. Everts found himself destitute by confiscation of property and other privations, with nine children. In company with five or six others he procured two row boats and launched them, loaded with their families, for Ohio. With great difficulty they escaped the hands of hostile savages, and stole and fought their way down into Lake Erie. Nothing but vigilance and spirit together with the assistance of a worthy Canadian named Chapman preserved the little band. The family took up winter quarters in 1814 and 1815 in the barracks of burned Buffalo. When the lake opened in the spring they re-loaded their boats and continued up the lake shore, stopping at Erie, Cleveland, Black River, Vermillion, and finally at the mouth of the Huron river, where the six families sheltered themselves as they could, and waited chances to get through to "The New Purchase." Here they lived on game and fish and corn procured from the Indians from July, 1815, to February, 1816, when Mr. Everts got a passage with a five horse team, of a Mr. Smith, to Newark, on his return from delivering corn at the lake. At this time there was a house at Truxville, a few cabins at Mansfield, and Robert Bell at Bellville. A man named Harter kept a tavern between Bellville and Mount Vernon, and there was Hunt's tavern five miles south of Mount Vernon. Here Mr. Everts stopped, in a primitive cabin in the woods. He had sold everything that had any money value, even his gun, and every dollar was spent. They were only partially recovered from the ague they contracted at Huron, and here a little daughter died.

There was a "Poor Law" in Ohio, as now. The constable came with his warrant ordering Mr. Everts to leave or give bail for his maintenance, which he could not do. The overseers of the poor visited him. Mr. Everts told them that if the Poor Laws of Ohio prevailed in all other places then he had no residence on earth. They heard the story of his Canadian troubles with sympathy but insisted that the law must be enforced. Some of his Canadian exile friends sent wagons and brought him into Jefferson township in March, 1817. Before a year had passed, the constable made his inevitable demand, and wanted bail or departure. Mr. Everts said he would not go, he would not give bail, and there was no wagon road to any legal residence for him (for the officer threatened to take him out of town in a wagon); that he would stay there until he could buy all the men that were harassing him. Every freeholder then offered to bail him, but he would not give bond. He said he had run a schooner on the lakes, and would now try to "paddle his own canoe." This was in the fall of 1818, and some twelve or fifteen settlers were building a school house, the first in the township. They drew up a note for fifty dollars, three men signed it on one year's time. Mr. Everts put off for Wooster, and made an entry of forty acres of land with the money borrowed on the note, became a freeholder, and never after feared the law or its minions.

The journey to Wooster he accomplished on foot and alone (with two days' rations), and returned in forty-eight hours. The note was extended one year, and then the fifty dollars forthcoming paid out this land, which was the W. 1/2 of the S. E. 1/4 of Section 22, a lot relinquished in his favor by one of his friends. He was appointed to teach this first school, and taught winter terms for many years, thereafter. He was also the first town clerk of Jefferson township as now constituted. Some time after this he met his brother Cyrus on the road, an emigrant with a worn-out team. They had been separated twenty years, and only found each other out by such questions and conversation as pass between settlers and new comers. This brother settled in Clear Creek, now Butler, township, where he died in 1854. In 1828 Mr. Everts sold his first entry, and bought the N. E. 1/4 of section 16, where he died in 1846, in his seventy-third year. The first school of Mr. Everts was attended by pupils from Washington, Perry, and Worthington townships, and a few from Berlin township, Knox county, making an average of more than thirty. In politics he was a Henry Clay Whig, and so strongly intinctured with abolitionism that he was a constant subscriber to Garrison's paper, and twice violated the fugitive slave law. These views being largely in the minority he never received any official honors outside of his own township.

He opposed the building of the Ohio Canal, from first to last, and foresaw and foretold with remarkable acumen the coming age of railroads. He wrote articles over the signature "Ishmael," and labored against the scheme, and his candidates, Hedges, Gass, and Swan, were elected.

Reuben Everts, whose name is at the head of this sketch, and whose regard for his father's memory has caused these facts to be preserved and published, as may be expected received a good home education, though never more than twelve months at school, and when scarcely eighteen, and about to begin for a winter's schooling, was offered a position as teacher; and his success was such that fourteen successive winter terms were taught by him, excepting only winters of 1837 and 1838. In the year 1834 he bought the E. 1/2 of N. W. 1/4 of section 16, to be paid for in eight yearly payments, and he paid it in three. In the summer of 1837 he was induced to go to Iowa with a millwright, and they found a location for a mill on one of the tributaries of the Des Moines, where it cost twenty-five cents to get a bushel of corn ground. A squatter's claim was bought for sixty-five dollars; but the financial crash cut off the means of business which they had relied on, and the project was abandoned, and the claim was sold for $450 in silver. He here met a party of surveyors who had lost their chief, and were unable to manage the business. He went to Farmington, Iowa, with them, and instructed them for six weeks, receiving $150 in all as teacher, and reached Ohio with a few dollars more than when he left, after nearly a year's absence.

On the 5th of April, 1840, he was married to Rebecca Howard, and moved on to his new purchase, where he yet lives. Their children are Andrew, Eli, Levi, Annette, Reuben, Comfort, Ann, Alverda, Robert, Rebecca J., John, and Sarah C., all of whom are now living in the township, excepting Eli, who is a citizen of Hutchinson, Reno co., Kansas. Andrew, Eli, and Levi, volunteered in the late Rebellion, and Andrew was wounded and permanently disabled in the battle of the Wilderness.

In 1846 Mr. Everts was elected Justice of the Peace, which office he has held now for twenty-seven years. During that time he has married two hundred and fifty-three couples, and has also administered on and settled thirty-one estates. He still enjoys unusual vigor of body and mind, and is passing his old age in comfort and ease on his pleasant farm near Bellville.

SAMUEL S. BLOOM was the son of George and Mary Ann (Stanbaugh) Bloom, and was born in Waterford, Juniata county, Pennsylvania, March 11th, 1834. He never knew a mother's fostering care, and at her death, quickly succeeding his birth, was taken in charge by his maternal grandfather, Mr. John Stanbaugh, and reared by him near Blaine, Perry county, Pennsylvania. His grandfather dying when young Bloom was in his 10th year, he came west to Shelby, Ohio, whither his father had emigrated in 1836, and where he died in 1843. He returned East, and was married to Miss Annie M. Stanbaugh, a lady of the same name, but not of the same family, as his mother, and in March, 1856, he came again to Richland county and made his home in the town of Shelby. From this period onward, the course of his life has been unchanged, except by the joys and sorrows, the cares and conquests, incident to all human progress. His wife and infant son died in 1857; but this gloom, so early cast upon his life, did not deter him from pursuing the even tenor of his way.

In 1859 he was again married to Mrs. Jennie Smiley, daughter of the late Mr. Robert Mickey, of Shelby, and at the present writing, in 1873, Mr. and Mrs. Bloom have three children living, one son and two daughters. We leave them now enjoying in simple elegance the bright summer of their lives, with hosts of attached friends around them, and follow the subject of our sketch into the world of business and the field of politics.

In 1858, Mr. Bloom was elected Mayor of Shelby by the votes of both parties, although a Democrat and that party largely in the minority. He was kept in the office, by annual election, until 1863, when party lines were drawn upon the exciting war questions of the day and he was defeated. During this time he also had been Township Clerk five years, and Justice of the Peace three years.

In 1863 he was nominated for the Legislature by the Democratic party and was one of the few upon the ticket elected. In 1865 he was again nominated and elected by a handsome majority. He was a member of the Standing Committees on Agriculture, on Benevolent Institutions, on the Judiciary, and Chairman of a Special Standing Committee to whom were referred all bills pertaining to Insurrection. The labors of the last named committee were among the most arduous and important of all, and finally resulted in the passage of the present wholesome insurance laws of Ohio.

As an opponent of secession in all its forms, and as a friend of the soldiers, Mr. Bloom made a noble record. In 1866 he introduced House Bill, No. 3, "To provide a bounty for Veteran Volunteers who have not heretofore received a local bounty," and later, in the same session, Bill No. 200, "Requiring Assessors to make a return of necessitous soldiers and estimate the amount required for their relief. In addition to this, he introduced resolutions calling for investigation of the condition of soldiers in the hospitals, and in his own county he encouraged enlistments by speeches. All business for soldiers and soldier's widows passing through his hands while at Columbus, and distributing relief funds, was transacted gratuitously. He introduced a series of resolutions on the subject of taxation, taking the ground that though government bonds could not be legally taxed as bonds, yet individuals could and should be taxed in proportion to their wealth, regardless of the character of their investments. Finally, he proposed and offered, as a substitute, a set of resolutions embodying his views upon the questions then agitating the public mind, and as an evidence of his independent stand and broad political views, we give them entire from the Journal of the House of 1867, page 372:

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States at the commencement of the late civil war declared that it should not be waged on the part of the government for the purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights of the States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality, and rights of the several States unimpaired.

Resolved, That upon the enforcement of these propositions in the manner declared, the faith of the government was pledged, an appeal to the arbitrament of arms taken, the lives and property of our citizens freely offered, and upon these propositions was brought to a successful termination.

Resolved, That secession having failed, it follows that the Constitution has been maintained, that the Union has been preserved with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States maintained, and that the people of those States are, therefore, now entitled to equal representation in the Congress of the United States by representatives having the qualifications prescribed by the Constitution of the United States, and the laws passed in pursuance thereof.

Resolved, That, as during the war the Government of the United States could not, with honor, recede from the position assumed, so now it cannot, without dishonor, exact other terms not declared during the existence of the war, and unauthorized by the Constitution of the United States.

In public life, Mr. Bloom never shrank from the avowal of the moral sentiments that governed his private actions; and we find him early in his legislative career taking a stand upon moral questions, as such.

In 1864 he was admitted to the bar and has built up a good and growing practice in the State Courts. More recently he has been admitted in the United States Courts, and has secured practice therein.

On the 12th November, 1868, the "Independent News" was brought out by S. S. Bloom & Co., under the editorial control of Mr. Bloom. In his salutatory he said: "Our political views are known; these will remain unchanged, but we will never carry politics into our business, so also will we not obtrude it upon the readers of the 'News.'" As might be expected, this course, strictly adhered to, has added another to the number of his successful enterprises.

It would be natural to suppose, that wealth, and a liberal education, had assisted in the creation of Mr. Bloom's prosperity; but the reverse of this is true. His early education was limited to that taught in common schools. A farm of about one hundred acres was left him by his father, but he did not avail himself of the advantage of this credit until ten years after it came to him. Industry, application to study, determination, and strict honesty, have brought to him all the prosperity and all the influence he now has. No one has taken a more lively interest in the prosperity of Shelby, and, when away from home, we notice in his correspondence to his paper frequent suggestions, derived from his observations, tending to stimulate and encourage the public spirit of his townsmen.

In his religious views, Mr. Bloom is an Evangelical Lutheran, and a leading member of that denomination. His absence at the meeting of the General Synod of his church has compelled us to gather most of our information concerning his life and character, from the legislative journals, and from the lips of his acquaintances in Shelby.

JAY SMILEY—The family of Mr. Smiley are of Scottish origin; his grandfather, Wm. Smiley, being born in Scotland, and emigrating to America in the first half of the last century, settling in the colony of New Hampshire. John Smiley was born in Jeffrey, N. H., August 21st, 1754, but removed in 1785 to Rutland co., Vermont, where Jay Smiley, his twelfth child, was born, on the 4th of October, 1794. Soon after this, in the same year, he moved to Augusta, Oneida co., N. Y., where another child was born. Out of this large family of thirteen, all but one lived until years of maturity. In 1807 the family again removed to Jefferson county, N. Y., where the death of Mr. John Smiley occurred in March, 1813. The subject of our sketch remained at home until 1817, when he was twenty-two years of age, and then, in company with his brother David, he started out to seek his fortunes in the undeveloped western country. Their first stop was made in Mansfield, Richland county, Ohio, and their first engagement was made with William and George Reynolds, who lived in Milfin township, half a mile south of the present town of Windsor. Here David remained two years, and Jay three years and a half, during which time they purchased the S. W. quarter of Section 5, Township 22, Range 19, and in 1820 Jay bought out his brother's interest in the property.

We next learn of Mr. Smiley returning on a visit to the old home in Jefferson county, N. Y., and there he was married on the 10th of April, 1822, to Miss Dolly Johnson, of that county. In May of the same year they came out to Ohio, stopped in Stark county until November, 1823, then moved to Sharon township, Richland county, and on the 1st of January, 1824, they took possession of their new log cabin on section five, and on the 15th of February following, their first child was born there. This place has been their home ever since. Here have been born to them seven children, four sons and three daughters, named in the order of their birth, Rosanna, Henry J., Sarah J., David, Louisa, Andrew E. and John Jay, of whom two sons and two daughters are still living, in 1873. On the 11th of May, 1873, Mrs. Smiley departed this life, in the 73d year of her age, after more than half a century of wedded life, of joys and sorrows, of early privations, and later competence.

In the year 1825, Mr. Smiley was elected Justice of the Peace, at the fifth election ever held in this township. He held this office six years at that time, and in 1848, being again elected, continued to serve for nine years. Among other acts of Mr. Smiley's official life, he reports the marriage by him of forty couples. He is passing his declining years in ease and comfort, upon the spot that first became his home at Shelby nearly fifty years ago. His powers of mind remain almost unimpaired, as is shown by his furnishing us, in his seventy-ninth year, the circumstances and the dates of this article with readiness and accuracy, entirely from memory.

Henry J., the eldest son, was married November, 1856, to Miss Cordelia Craig, who died February, 1864, leaving him one daughter, Mary. He now resides in Marion county.

Rosanna, the eldest daughter, was married in December, 1845, to George W. Moore, who was engaged in the drug business in Shelby for some years, and who died in August, 1858, leaving two sons, Albert and Wallace, who live in Shelby at the present writing, in 1873.

His daughter, Louisa, was married October 22d, 1858, to Lemuel Fite, now living in Marion county, Ohio.

Sarah J., the second daughter, died in the 23d year of her age. She was educated at Berea, Ohio, and prepared in mind and heart for a sphere of usefulness. She is now remembered among her friends chiefly for the modest purity that adorned her daily life, and endeared her to all.

David, the second son, was married to Miss Jennie Mickey, in September, 1855, and died April 8th, 1857. He was educated at Baldwin Institute, Berea, and at the Ohio Wesleyan University. In the Fall of 1856 he took a great interest in the political campaign, and his Republican friends availed themselves of his talents as a speaker, and put him forward in the canvass of the county. His exertions in this direction probably laid the foundation of the malady which attacked him shortly after, followed him through the Winter, and ended his life in the following Spring. His friends and enemies, in politics (for he had no enemies outside of politics), mourned his loss, as the taking off of the most promising young man in the community, and to this day he is named as the most talented of the sons of Shelby.

John Jay, the fourth son, was married to Miss Amelia Tucker, December 2d, 1865, and they are now living on the old home place.

The closing lines of this brief sketch we dedicate to the memory of one who gave his life to his country.

Andrew E. Smiley, third son of Jay Smiley, graduated at the Ohio Wesleyan University in June, 1858. In September, 1861, he enlisted in Company "I," 15th Regiment Ohio Vols., and on the 24th June, 1863, was killed at Liberty Gap, Tennessee, while acting as Lieutenant of Company "A," to which office he was appointed in April, 1863. His remains were brought home in March, 1864, and interred in the old cemetery. He was prepared by nature and education for a useful and honorable life; alas! he is numbered now among —

" * * * * The brave,
" Who sink to rest,
" By all their country's wishes blest."

SAMUEL GARBER was born May 8th, 1804, in York county, Pennsylvania. He was married to Catherine Leedy, September 7th, 1825, in Jefferson township, Richland county, by Esquire Thomas Doty. She was born in Bedford county, Pennsylvania, on the 9th of April, 1809, and her father was also born in Bedford county. Her mother's name was Elizabeth Kleth.

Mr. Garber's father, Samuel Garber, enlisted at York, Pennsylvania, for the war of 1812, and was never heard of afterwards by his family, and three boys were left in the condition of orphans, named respectively John, Samuel, and David. Samuel, the subject of this sketch, worked awhile at shoemaking, but with that exception has always followed with industry and success the occupation of farming.

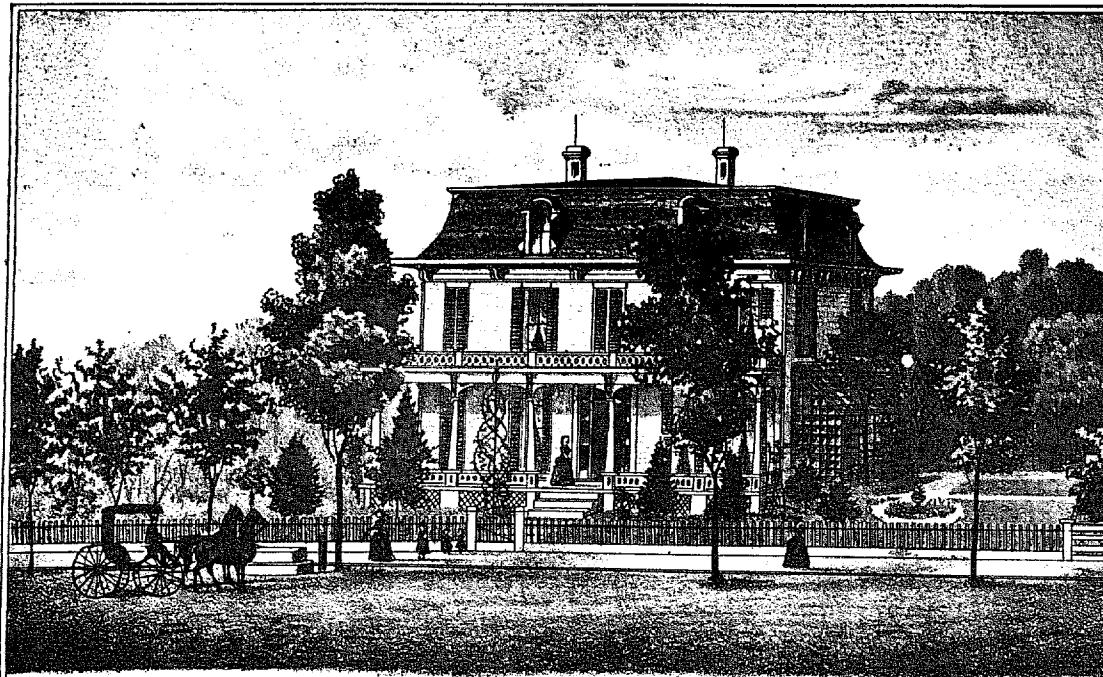

Mrs. Garber's father, John Leedy, came into Richland county in 1810, and in June, 1811, located on section 35. The bears, wolves, and Indians were their most frequent visitors, the latter the most friendly. Twelve children were reared by this pioneer, and some of them remember and narrate many thrilling incidents of the frontier times. When the Indians went away from here to their reservation westward they shook hands, and even shed tears at parting with this excellent family. In the war of 1812 Mr. Leedy, senior, stayed at home, though against his will, for he was north of the boundary line, considered a frontiersman, and ordered to stay at home. He sent a rifle, though, to the blockhouse at Mansfield, and his teams to Fort Meigs with provisions. Mr. Garber lived for thirty years on a farm, S. E. section 34, in the Leedy settlement, near the Knox county line. In 1861 he moved on the N. W. 1/4 of section 13, about two and one-half miles from Bellville. About two hundred acres comprise his present beautiful homestead farm.

Their children, named in the order of their age, are John, Levi, David, Lewis, Jehu, Elizabeth, Jackson, Worthington, Theodore, Mary E., Benton, and Mina. Of these twelve, all grew up to maturity excepting the youngest daughter, who died when ten months of age. All are now living, in 1873, excepting Levi, who died April 27th, 1850, in his 22d year, and David, who died April 5th, 1865, in his 35th year.

CAPTAIN COLLIN P. LEITER was born in Leitersburgh, Washington county, Maryland, February 14th, 1833. He was the first child of Samuel F. and Caroline Leiter. In 1837-8 his parents removed to Ohio, and settled in Mansfield, where his father carried on the tailoring business on the spot where the Opera House building now stands. Subsequently they moved to Springfield township, in this county, where they are now living. The subject of this sketch was apprenticed to James Norford, carpenter, at Massillon, Ohio, when fifteen years of age, served his time, and afterwards worked at the trade in Richland county without interruption, until 1861, excepting two years that he was building school houses in Van Wert county. He was married July 7th, 1857, to Miss Eliza Jane Shepard, of Richland county, a native of Virginia, and they are the parents of four daughters and one son, now living.

In September, 1861, he enlisted in Company "I," 15th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and served as a private soldier until he was commissioned Second Lieutenant April 21st, 1864. During this time he was with the Army of the Tennessee and the Army of the Cumberland in their battles and campaigns. In the campaign against Atlanta he was in the 4th Army Corps, under General Howard, in the Second Division, and General Willich's Brigade—afterwards General Gibson's. On the 27th of May, 1864, near Dallas, Georgia, at a place designated in General Orders as Pickett's Mills, otherwise called Burnt Hickory, and New Hope Church, he received a severe wound, from canister shot, in the right hand, which rendered amputation necessary the next day. He was with his regiment at the time, charging in the line of the whole division upon the enemy's extreme right. The severity of this engagement is shown by the fact of twenty-six being killed, wounded, and captured from his company alone.

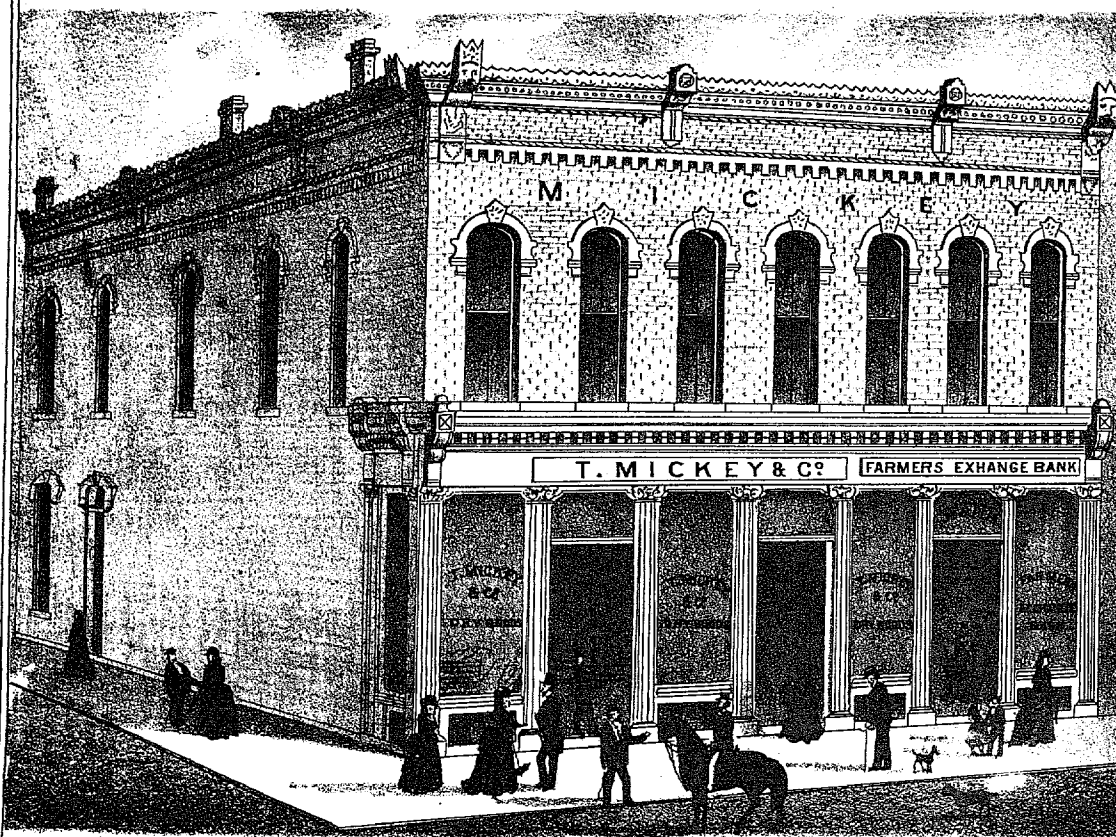

From the field hospital he was sent to Lookout Mountain, and there obtained a twenty days' leave of absence, and reached his home August 1st. This leave was extended twenty days further, but feeling sufficiently recovered, he returned before its expiration, and found his regiment had gone south to Jonesborough, flanking the enemy's left, and were inaccessible to him. He then reported to the 20th Corps, who were this side of Atlanta, and when that city was evacuated, went in with them, where, shortly after, he met his regiment falling back, on the 8th of September. In the meantime he had been commissioned 1st Lieutenant, and then promoted to a Captaincy, but sudden marching orders prevented him from being mustered under these commissions. The army then fell back before Hood to Franklin, and after that battle, to Nashville. Here all wounded and disabled officers were put on detached service, by order of General Thomas, and Captain Leiter was on a military commission until mustered out of service, January 30th, 1866. During this time the notorious guerilla, Champ Ferguson, was tried and convicted, the investigation occupying fifty-five days. He returned to Richland county, when mustered out of service, in the winter of 1866, and in the spring of that year he was elected Mayor of Shelby, also Justice of the Peace and Clerk of Sharon township. In the summer of 1867 he was appointed Assistant Assessor of Internal Revenue, which office he held until May 20th, 1873. He has been elected Mayor every year in succession since 1866, and is the present incumbent. He is also Justice of the Peace, and gives his entire time to the duties of these offices.

BUSINESS NOTICES IN SHELBY.

INDEPENDENT NEWS.—S. S. Bloom, Editor and Proprietor. Published every Thursday, in Bloom's Agency Building, Gamble Street, Shelby, Ohio. Terms: $2.00 a year in advance. Plain and Fancy Job Printing of all kinds neatly executed at this office. This was the first successful newspaper enterprise ever undertaken in Shelby. It has for its motto, "Independent in all things: Neutral in nothing."

A view of the "News Building" is given on another page. The first number was issued Nov. 12th, 1868.

THE SHELBY GAZETTE was established in the spring of 1869, by Thomas H. Barkdull, a son of the late Rev. Thomas Barkdull. By application and aptitude he acquired a thorough knowledge of the art of printing at an early age, but left the "case" before his majority, to become a soldier in the 176th O. V. I. At the close of the war he returned to the printing business, and established a paper in Berea, which he sold in order to come to Shelby. The Gazette is not a party organ; but, as Mr. Barkdull is a Republican, he has not refrained from commending such positions and principles as have been honestly taken by that party. He esteems political honesty and the social and moral interests of the community as more important than mere partisan success. Upon these principles, as an editor, he seeks support without further pledge or promise. In the business department of the Gazette, which is also under his entire control, he has no fear of competition, for he has had years of practical experience. Job work has been made a specialty, and to style and taste in this line he devotes particular attention. The "Gazette" office will be found in the new brick block corner of Gamble and Main streets; and steam power being used, will enable large jobs to be turned off on shortest notice. There has been a good patronage bestowed, thus far, upon this paper, and work from distant villages sent in. If this liberality continues, greater facilities can be added to the establishment, and the public and the paper enjoy increased prosperity.

T. MICKEY & CO.—Thomas Mickey began merchandizing in Shelby in 1839, in company with James Brown, under the name of Brown & Mickey. After three months this firm was succeeded by R. & T. Mickey, his brother Robert becoming his partner, and under that style continued until 1847. Then until 1865 the business was conducted under the name of T. Mickey, when W. T. Mickey, Henry Davis and John Saviers were admitted as partners, under the style of Mickey, Davis & Saviers.

In 1868 another change was effected, and the firm of T. Mickey & Co. established as it now exists, the members being Thomas Mickey, W. T. Mickey, and Rod D. Stober, and they are carrying on extensive business as a general store. In 1868, at the last change above named, "The Farmers' Exchange Bank" was organized, and is owned and controlled by the firm of T. Mickey & Co. R. T. Mickey, who died in 1857, built the first warehouse in Shelby, and ever since the railroad reached Shelby Thomas Mickey has been in the produce business. A view of the bank and store will be found on another page.

BOWMAN, BEVERSTOCK & CO., Dry Goods, Notions, etc., corner Main and Broadway.—Mr. George Bowman came to Shelby the 15th of March, 1857. After clerking four years for Mr. Thomas Mickey, and two years more for Mr. Samuel Haislet, he went into business with the firm of Haislet, Bowman & Co., Mr. H. B. Mattoon being the Company.

This firm continued until the fall of 1864 under the same name and style, Mr. Bowman being an active member thereof during all that period, excepting the time that he was in the service as a member of the 163d O. N. G., Co. F.

Upon his return from the army the firm was changed to Haislet & Bowman by the purchase of the interest of Mr. Mattoon. Under this style they continued until January 8, 1872, when the present firm of Bowman, Beverstock, & Co. was formed, Mr. Bowman associating with him A. B. Beverstock and Thomas Mickey. They now carry on a general business in dry goods, notions, queens-ware, hats, and caps, etc.

A view of the building and of Bowman Hall will be seen on another page.

JOHN DEMPSEY, Wholesale Grocer and Provision Dealer, Main street.

Col. Dempsey began business in Shelby November 12, 1854, in a building opposite the present dwelling of W. T. Mickey. He moved from there into the east part of the present "Merchant's Hotel," and afterwards buying a lot and building from Gen. Wilson, he prepared the store for his business, and went into it in 1859; it is the frame building next east of his present stand. He erected the commodious store that he now occupies, and opened business it January 10, 1871.

During all this time Col. Dempsey has been the sole manager, and has given to all its details his personal attention, excepting the time that he was absent in the service as Lieutenant-Colonel of the 163d regiment Ohio National Guards. He has built up a large trade, and is still carrying on business in the building last named above, of which we give a sketch upon another page.

SAMUEL F. STAMBAUGH.—Mr. Stambaugh came from Pennsylvania to Shelby in 1866, and since that time has been one of the active young business men of the place.

By untiring diligence he has become the controller of a large business in the line of Real Estate Conveyancing, Collections, and Notarial Work. Being a Practical Surveyor and Notary Public he has especial qualifications for real estate business. He is now, in addition to the above named occupations, Secretary of the "Buckeye Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Shelby." He is at the office of the Insurance Company at all times and ready to do anything in the various departments alluded to. Mr. Stambaugh can refer to the best men of the place if needed, but owning property and controlling money as he does, references are not considered necessary.

MERCHANTS' HOTEL, Wm. Sipe, Proprietor, Main street, West Side, Shelby, Ohio.

Mr. Sipe is an old citizen of Shelby, and will be remembered by traveling men as Col. John Dempsey's oldest salesman during the last seventeen years. This Hotel has been thoroughly repaired, painted, papered, and carpeted, furniture, beds and bedding, entirely new, of the best kinds—everything for the comfort of the traveling public.

Mr. Sipe will spare no time or money to make his house a home for his guests. He is courteous, kind, and obliging. His table is richly supplied with all the substantial and delicacies the markets afford; he has already a large and rapidly increasing patronage. All baggage taken to and from the cars free; good sample rooms; always ready, good stabling for horses. Attentive and polite assistants.

W. A. SHAW, Manufacturer and Retail Dealer in Jewelry.

Mr. Shaw was formerly a partner of A. L. Root at Medina, and engaged in the manufacture of Jewelry on a large scale. Their goods gained wide celebrity on account of their purity and finish.

He commenced business in Shelby on December, 1868, and has a number of hands employed in the Jewelry manufacture. In 1873 he erected the block known as "Union Block," in company with Messrs. Wiggins & Welke. The corner rooms he owns and occupies in his manufacturing and retailing business. An assortment of watches and jewelry always kept, and all goods coming from him are just what they are represented to be, candor and fairness being his rule of business.

DANIEL A. SHURR, Livery and Stable.

Mr. Shurr came to Shelby in 1848, and was in the firm of Gaylord & Shurr, dry goods, until 1852. When he closed this business up he went to California and thence to Australia and New Zealand. During the seventeen years that he was there he was most of the time with Cobb & Co., the largest stage proprietors of that country. In 1872, having returned, he bought out Conklin & Riker, and now carries on the livery business with a good stock of horses and the finest carriages in the place. Office opposite the Merchants' Hotel, Main street.

JOSEPH W. HARBAUGH.—Mr. Harbaugh came to Shelby in 1866, and was first engaged in the livery business with G. A. Metcalf. In 1869 he closed up this firm and retained the stables and real estate, but opened a RESTAURANT AND CONFECTIONERY on Main street, opposite the Merchants' Hotel. He is now carrying on a large business in this line, furnishing oysters in every style, and Ice Cream, etc., according to the season, with wines and liquors always on hand. Furs and Pelts bought here in the season by Mr. Harbaugh for cash.

SAVIERS & SOTZEN, Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

Mr. John Saviers has been in business in Shelby since 1861. First in the firm of Anderson, Saviers & Co., dry goods; then with Davis and Saviers consolidated with T. Mickey, under the style of Mickey, Davis & Saviers.

Mr. Sotzen is also an old resident of Shelby, having been in business as Sipe & Sotzen in the clothing line many years ago. The present firm was formed May, 1873. They employ from ten to fifteen hands in the manufacturing department, and also keep a large stock of all articles of gentlemen's use in the clothing line. They are doing business in Mickey's Block, West Main street.

H. R. LYBARGER, wholesale and retail dealer in Dry Goods, Notions, Carpets, Oil Cloths and Window Shades, Hats and Caps, Groceries, and in fact all kinds of merchandise. A large and well selected stock, bought at the lowest cash prices, constantly on hand. Mr. L. is an experienced merchant; he understands the wants of the people, and with his facilities cannot be undersold. Satisfaction is guaranteed at his old stand. His motto is "business." Corner Main and Gamble streets, Shelby, Ohio.

CASH. L. CLINE, Boots and Shoes, opposite Merchants' Hotel, Shelby, Ohio. Mr. Cline makes a specialty of, furnishing Cleveland work and Pittsburg goods equal to any home-made work, and warranted. He has lived in Shelby and in Richland county long enough to make any recommendations unnecessary; and he confidently looks for support in his endeavor to furnish a first-class boot and shoe store for the citizens of Shelby.

DAVID W. FUNK, Manufacturer and dealer in Boots and Shoes. Men's, ladies', boys', misses', and children's gaiters, slippers and overshoes. Also trunks, satchels, leather, and findings. Boots and shoes made to order, of the best material, at reasonable prices. He invites the public to call and examine his stock. Will pay the highest market prices for hides.

He is agent for Grover & Baker's sewing machines.

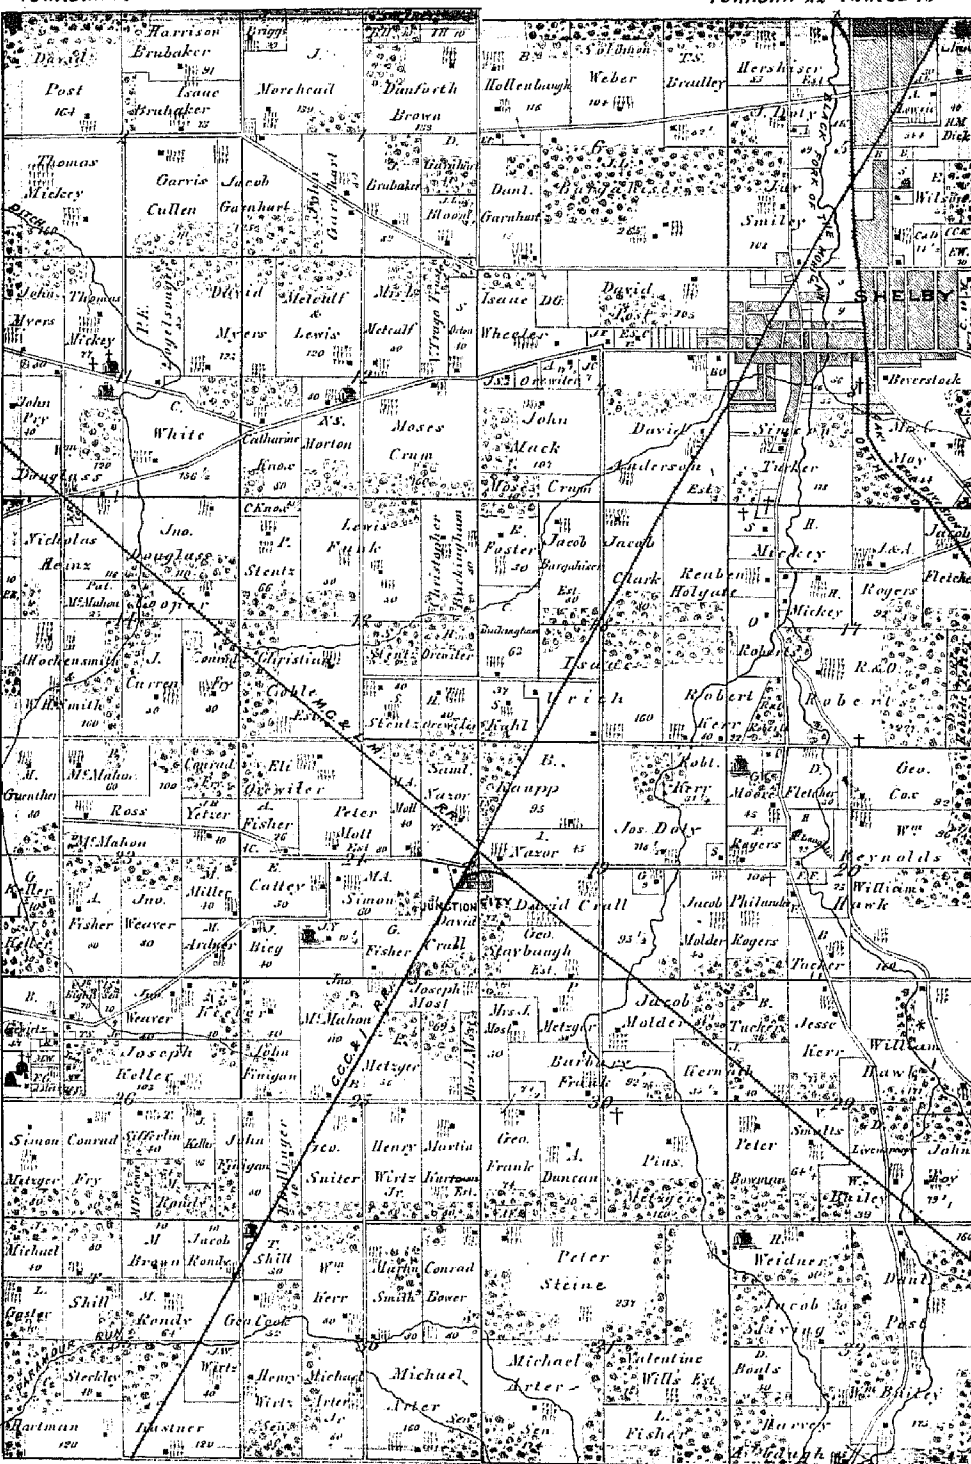

First door west of T. Mickey & Co., Shelby, Ohio.

A NEW WOOLEN MILL.

OLAPPER & OREWILER, formerly known in Crawford, and adjoining counties, in the manufacture of woolen goods, have put into operation a New Woollen Mill in Shelby, and desire to pay, at all seasons of the year, more for clean, light wool, in cash or goods, than any other parties in this section. They manufacture cloths and yarn of pure stock, no cotton or shoddy mixtures, and warranted to wear two to three times as long as Eastern of the same price. They make cassimeres, jeans, tweed, sattinets, Persian cloths, linseys, flannels, both plain and plaid, blankets all wool and with cotton warp, and make a specialty in stocking yarns, such that they can warrant to give entire satisfaction. All they ask of the public is a fair trial in order to establish a good live trade. They do also custom spinning, and manufacture by the yard or on shares.

MAP OF SHARON TOWNSHIP

SHARON TOWNSHIP.

The present town of Sharon, the town of Jackson, and Vernon township, Crawford county, were originally under one organization, and called Blooming Grove, and Matthew and Joseph Curran, who came about 1815, were the first settlers. After them came Robert Henry, Giles Swan, Adam Swan, Joseph Rockwell, and Henry and John B. Taylor. The first white men who ever struck a blow in this town are said to have been Eben Bolt and ——— Brown. They built a cabin and felled some timber, but soon moved away, and were not connected like the others named with the improvement of the town. Gen. Eli Wilson, Stephen Martin and Henry Whitney were the first who came into the present limits of Sharon, in 1818. They entered a quarter section of land, and the part belonging to Gen. Wilson was afterwards purchased by James Gamble, upon which he laid out the town of Shelby, in 1812. The first name of this settlement was Gamble's Mills Post Office, and John Gamble was the first post master. The first election was held April 7th, 1819, at the house of Mrs. Rockwell, now in Jackson township, and Giles Swan, John B. Taylor and James Rockwell were elected trustees; Almon Hayes, Clerk, and Giles Swan, Justice of the Peace. In 1820 a school house was built at the forks of the road, one mile and a half east of Shelby; but the first within the present limits of Sharon, was built later, on the corner in Shelby since occupied by J. F. Saiger & Co., and by Mr. Lybarger. The first marriage was that of Giles Swan to Miss Jane Rockwell, September, 1817. The first death was Joseph Rockwell, in the spring of 1818. The first birth was a child of Robert Henry, in 1816. The first church was a log building, built on section 5, near Mr. Jay Smith's, in 1820, and supplanted first by the Rev. Rensel Bishop, a Methodist. Previous to this there had been preaching by a Rev. Mr. Matthews, a Presbyterian. When the first settlers came in here, several tribes of Indians occupied the country west. They were Wyandottes, Delawares, Senecas, and some Mohicans, and very friendly towards the whites. The only road was a trail leading from an Indian Village called Pipetown, on the lower Black Fork, to Lower Sandusky. Sharon is now a populous township, and Shelby a growing young city, furnishing a proof of the energy of its founders, and the enterprise of their descendants.

MAP OF JACKSON TOWNSHIP

JACKSON TOWNSHIP.

The present township of Jackson belonged to Sharon, until 1847, when it was set off into a separate township, and called Jackson, and for its early history reference will be had to Sharon upon another page of this atlas. The first election ordered by the Commissioners for the township of Jackson, was on May of April, 1847, when Anthony Hershiser, Robert Leach and John Leppo were chosen Trustees; Abraham Bushey, Treasurer, Alexander Barr, Assessor; Samuel Rockwell, Town Clerk, and De-lanzen Rockwell and David McKenney, Constables. And in 1847, Abraham Bushey and John Ackerman were elected Justices of the Peace. This is an excellent township of land, well watered, with plenty of good timber. It is especially a farming community that have settled here, there being in it no village of considerable importance. The city of Shelby being contiguous receives most of their trade.

MAP OF FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.

FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP, was organized in 1816. The first election was held at Joseph Floro's, on the farm now owned by the heirs of Samuel Myers, at which Jacob Cline and William Holster were elected Justices of the Peace. Mr. Cline soon after resigned, and at a special election Jacob Osburn was chosen to take his place. The first religious meeting was held at the house of Peter Pittenger, on the Wolford farm, in 1815, the services being conducted by Rev. John Clingan, who organized a Methodist society of about twelve members. The first church was a log structure, built on the western slope of Big Hill, northeast of the County Infirmary, on land then owned by James Mahon. The first school house was built in 1818, on the land then owned by Jacob Osburn, now by Joseph Walters. The first school in the township was held in this house, and was a three month's term, supported by subscription. The teacher was John Hagerman. The township was then an almost unbroken wilderness. The forest was mainly oak, beech, maple and walnut. The elm, the ash, and the sycamore skirted the winding Black Fork, while the second bottom lands were noted for their beautiful groves of sugar maple, and Big Hill, in the southeastern part of the township, abounded in chestnuts, wild grapes and hickory nuts.

The first settlers came into this township in 1815-16. Jacob Foulks in 1815; Abraham Claberg in 1816. Then in 1817 John Wolph came, and in 1818 Robert and John Starr, and Robert Patterson in 1819. The first marriage was Robert Houston and Sarah Owens, in 1814. The first birth was Ranson Foulks, in 1816. The first school house was built in 1829, and Joseph Ward first teacher. The Methodists erected a church in 1845; but the first preaching was at John Wolph's house, in 1818, by the Rev. Mr. Boardman. Nancy Foulks was the first death, in 1818. Mr. Isaac Claberg, now residing near Adario, from personal and official sources has furnished much information in regard to these matters and various persons, and considers the above correct.

This township was a part of Vermilion, one of the four votes of the county precincts in 1814, and at a later date about one-half of it was embraced in Franklin. Olivesburgh is the principal stream. The Black Fork is the principal stream, and by its diagonal course gives the whole township water and drainage. It is not who were the first settlers of Weller, for the town and county lines were not so clearly defined at that early period that accords could be made. It ranks among the best townships of the county, and has by the census of 1870 a population of 1140.

MIFFLIN TOWNSHIP.

MIFFLIN TOWNSHIP was organized September 5th, 1814. It was, previous to that, a part of Vermilion, which was one of the four original voting precincts of the County. It was, at first, eighteen miles in length, by six miles in breadth. Mr. Jay Smiley, and his brother David came there in 1817, and worked for Mr. William and George Reynolds, who lived half a mile south of the present town of Windsor. The first elections were held when the township was a part of Vermilion, in 1813-14. The Black Fork of the Mohican forms a boundary on a portion of the north and northeast, and the Rocky Fork flows through the southeastern portion, so that the township is furnished with abundant water and mill privileges. The population of the township in 1870 was 901.

MADISON TOWNSHIP.

This township was organized in 1810, and was named after James Madison, then President of the United States. There were in the township at that time eight or nine families, among them those of Jacob Newman, Geo. Coffinberry, Michael Newman, Win. Winship, Rolin Weldon, Joseph Middleton and Andrew Pierce. The first white male child born in the township was Mansfield H. Gilkison, now acting Sheriff of the county. The first marriage was that of John Pugh to Fanny Murphy. The first printing office was at Mansfield, and was established by John C. Gilkison and his brother James. The first school was taught by Andrew Coffinberry. The same was also the first Justice of the Peace. The first religious society, (Methodist,) was established by Rev. Wm. Jones. This society built the first church in Mansfield. The first road opened was from Mansfield to Wooster, and the next to Mt. Vernon. The first goods sold were by Levi Jones, who was afterwards killed by the Indians. The first chopping done in the township was done by Jacob Newman. The first frame building was erected by Win. Winship. The first physician was Royal N. Powers, in 1815. The first lawyer was John M. May, who died only a few years since.

SANDUSKY

SANDUSKY TOWNSHIP.

About two-thirds of this township is now embraced in Crawford county, but it was originally a part of Springfield township, and the first settlers were the Welches, Condens, Coffenburys, Dougalls and Finneys. It has but a small population, but unlike some other towns has steadily maintained its standing in point of population, and has increased in wealth. By the census of 1870 the population was 688. Three railroads pass through it, and there are many fine farms devoted to fruit and grain.

MAP OF PERRY TOWNSHIP

PERRY TOWNSHIP.

This township is composed of only eighteen sections; the remaining eighteen of the original congressional township being in the adjoining county of Crawford. The extended history of Jefferson that we give in another part of this atlas will apply in some respects to Perry, for they were originally one and the same precinct and neighborhood in the old frontier times.

TROY TOWNSHIP.

The first land entered in Troy township was by William Gass and his brother-in-law, Francis Mitchell, in the fall of 1811. Mr. Gass selected the west half of section 12, and Mr. Mitchell the southwest quarter of section 11. In the winter of 1811-12 Amariah Watson, of Knox county, entered the north half of section 24, upon which Lexington now stands, together with a number of other quarters in that vicinity. The first white inhabitants arrived in the spring of 1812, in the following order, viz.: Amariah Watson, and his brother-in-law, Eliza Robbins. They built their cabins and moved in with their families in the latter part of March. Robbins settled on Watson's land. On the 11th of October, 1814, the first town officers were elected, viz.: Amariah Watson, Town Clerk; Calvin Culver, Constable; John Young, Jacob Mitchell and Solomon Culver, trustees; Wesley Spratt, Treasurer. Amariah Watson and James Young were the first Justices of the Peace. The first flour mill was built by Amariah Watson and his two brothers, Samuel and Noah, on the north branch of Clear Creek, in 1812. Mr. Watson also laid out the village of Lexington.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP.

This township had a population in 1870, of 1312, and originally belonged to the southern or Jefferson part of the county, and its history, and that of the principal families are closely connected with the histories of prominent settlers in Madison and Jefferson. It is a square township, of evenly timbered land. The Clear Fork of the Mohican runs through a part of the southwest corner of the township. The pleasant village of Washington is the principal point, but it appears that population is being attracted away from the township by a comparison of the census returns of 1860-70, the loss being 485 in population during the ten years.

MAP OF MONROE TOWNSHIP

HISTORY OF MONROE.

MONROE TOWNSHIP was organized in the spring of 1817. The surface is broken and in some places very hilly. The soil is very fertile, and well adapted to the raising of cereals of all kinds. The township is abundantly watered with springs and running streams. The Black Fork of the Mohican enters on the north, also the Rocky Fork; the Clear Fork of the Mohican River waters but a small portion of the southeast corner. Lucas, the only village of the township, is pleasantly located on the Rocky Fork about six miles southeast of Mansfield. Its present site was made by General Bell in his passage from Wooster to the seat of War in 1812. Among the first who settled in this township were David Hill, Sec. 9; F. Bonenberg, Sec. 10; John G. Peterson, Sec. 11; John Lambright, Sec. 2; M. Williams, Sec. 9; Wm. Slater, Sec. 9; Adam Wolf, Sec. 19; Wm. McLaughlin, Wm. Ray, Wm. Ferguson, Thos. Rigdon, Thos. McBride, David Schrack, and J. Douglass. The earliest came in 1809. The first cabin was built near Lucas by David Hill. Peter Zerby, in 1820, erected the first grist-mill and saw-mill. The Lutherans, in 1820, built the first church, which they called "Mount Zion." Rev. M. Shugh was the first pastor. He also taught a select school in the building. Hastings was the first Post Office. It was established in August, 1829. The first election took place in the spring of 1817. J. G. Peterson, Wm. McLaughlin, and David Ellis were elected Trustees. Andrew Richey was appointed Assessor, or "Lister" as it was then called.

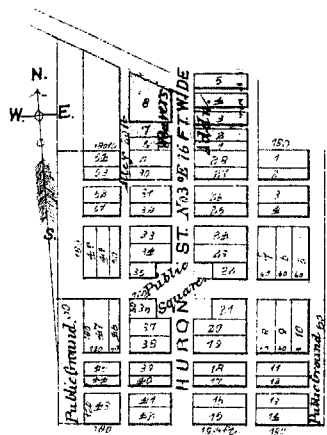

WORTHINGTON.

This township was named after Governor Worthington. Its first settlement was commenced in 1808, by Samuel Lewis, James Cunningham, Andrew Craig, and Henry McCart. These four, with their families, formed a nucleus neighborhood adjoining the old Wm. Darling farm. Samuel Lewis put up the first cabin, on the n. e. quarter of Sec. 1., near the Block House. The Block House was built by the families, formed a nucleus neighborhood adjoining the old Wm. Darling farm. It stood near the present site of Robert Darling's house. The first school house was built on James McConkey's farm. John Fillion was the early settlers as a means of defence against the Indians. The "Associated Reformed Society" built the first church, about one and one-half miles above the village of Independence. Michael Hogan built the first store, at Newville. Frederick Herring built the first flour mill in 1814, at Newville. Worthington is probably the roughest township in the county, but notwithstanding that seeming defect, it contains also some of the finest farms. The scenery is beautiful. "Hemlock Falls," of the Clear Fork, situated about one and a half miles south of Newville, is a great resort in summer time for the people of the neighborhood. The creek falls seventy-five feet, not perpendicularly, but at an angle of about eighty degrees. The last leap is perpendicular for fifteen feet.

PLEASE READ THIS PAGE BEFORE USING THE INDEX

The first two numbers of the code represent the section of the township.

The middle two letters of the code represent the township, village or town.

The last two numbers of the code are the page number.

EXAMPLE: ABY, Isaac 22 MF 37 reads: Section 22 of Mifflin Township, page 37

If no section was used, that space will be found blank. Where names are taken from pages of biographies etc. the only part of the code to be found will be the page: EXAMPLE: ANDREWS, Lorin 22

ASHLEY, Rev. JF76

Pages 11, 14, 15, 18 and 19 are not included in the index since they are in alphabetical order.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Because of early boundary changes, Sandusky Township has two sections numbered 1 and 2. The northern sections numbered 1 and 2 are in the original township numbered 20 and are shown in the index as (T20). Those in the southern area of the township which are numbered 1 and 2 were in the original township numbered 19 and are shown in the index as (T19).
