Introduction

The goal was an index that would give the location of the names in the atlas and stand on its own feet while doing it. Some of the abbreviations used are common ones. The ones peculiar to this work were hopefully designed to cause a minimum of frustration. Moreover, the abbreviations are in the index proper; thus, Au=Aurelius Township immediately follows Atkinson, Wm A.

Other words of explanation may not be amiss. If a name appears twice in a Section the Section number is followed by (2x). Otherwise every name given is accompanied by a township designation and a page number. Belpre township has a Section 26 on p 88 and also on p 89. The page number is all that distinguishes between the two. Ludlow and Adams Township maps appear on the same page and the abbreviation Lw leads to the Ludlow township map. The most important clues to the location of a name are (1) the page and (2) the township.

The index is to names and not to land tracts. A name may lie in one lot and the pertaining land may be in that lot and two others as well. Only the lot with the name is given. In one instance the draftsman put the designation Store in a stream and the index locates it In river. It is possible that the store was on a barge or on either bank but the location of the structure is not an index responsibility; the location of the name is.

Often enough a name crosses the boundary between two lots or sections and such names are located as in Lot 6.5 if the name started in Lot 6. This procedure gave an impartial approach to deciding what lot number to use and incidentally made the name easier to find because it is in the area where the two lots meet.

Too often the draftsman omitted lot or section numbers and occasionally the index pretends the numbers are there. Reference to the county map on pp 8,9 may be helpful but it won't be worse than finding a house with a missing number when the other houses are numbered. The atlas itself is evidence that all work was not done perfectly in the good old days. A tolerant viewpoint is that our forbears did not pay for a perfect atlas. In any case we must be grateful for the information that it makes available. Many counties have no such work.

Some cross references are given where it seemed that the draftsman or his 'surveyor' might have introduced variations in spelling. Phonetic spelling of surnames is an old topic but the impression gained from this atlas is that the names must have been enunciated in a boiler shop. It may be that the publishers had a window sign reading, "Irish need not apply" because some Irish names had O for a middle initial where it would have seemed more natural for the O to have been O' _____. However, there was no second guessing the original. A cross reference might suggest that Smith had in some way become Snith but it was the latter that was indexed.

The index was checked against the atlas and the atlas against the index. This does not mean that it is error-free. Our experience suggests that difficult items benefit from the use of a magnifying glass in good daylight. If the item does not pop up it very likely is in smaller or, strangely enough, larger case letters.

A feature of the index is an organization of classes of information as a particular aid to researchers other than genealogists. This is the raison d'être of the Table of Contents.

We are indebted to our friend, Dr. Hobart Bartlett of Washington, D.C., for his insistence that a good atlas index would also give a map location. This proved a bit troublesome with maps that have no edge numbers or letters as does a modern map. The compilers hope that their expenditure of time yields dividends to the users.
