PREFACE.

It is with pleasure and satisfaction that we lay this volume before the public, knowing as we do its full value to the business interests of the County. And while it has been a constant, laborious task on the part of the publishers for over two years, we can appreciate the fact that nothing has been willfully slighted; and that its contents has been as carefully and as systematically executed as is possible in a work of so much detail. Our aim has been to fulfill the direct needs of the people without supplementing it with historical matter adapted for other lines of work.

And if our success has met the demand of our patrons and citizens in general, we will take an appreciative pride in this publication; and acknowledge all honor naturally bestowed and deservedly won.

If perchance we have erred either in print or authorship (as is very probable in a work of so great a complication, however careful the execution), the publishers will ask leniency in public criticism, and will desire no credit where none is due.

The inception and application of the present volume grew out of the authors own needs through an experience of thirty years in practical county work. Many of the details being executed under their authority while City and County officials; and in this it should be a valuable file for county reference.

Taking all in all, however, the authors claim for it nothing that it will not readily and accurately supply, and feel confident that it will create a spontaneous demand when its use and value has been fairly and substantially established.

GREENE COUNTY.

Greene County was organized in 1803. The law setting out the original boundaries is as follows: "That all that part of the counties of Hamilton and Ross, included in the following boundaries, viz.: beginning at the southeast corner of the county of Montgomery, running thence east to Ross county line, and the same course continued eight miles into the said county of Ross; thence north to the state line; thence westwardly with the same to the east line of Montgomery County; thence bounded by the said line of Montgomery to the beginning, shall compose a fourth new county, called and known by the name of Greene."

From the above description of Greene County it appears that this county extended from its present southern boundary north to the north line of the state, which would include not only a part of Ross and Hamilton, but a large part of Wayne County, as established in 1796, and which extended from the west line of the state in the northern part of what is now Mercer County, east to the Cuyahoga River, and including all the northwest part of the state. So that Greene County, to reach the north line of the state, necessarily included a large part of Wayne. The original description of Greene County also included a strip of territory not included in the descriptions of Ross and Hamilton, but generally regarded as a part of Hamilton County.

In 1805 Greene County was reduced by the organization of Champaign County, which extended from the line between the eighth and ninth ranges of townships, two miles north of the town of Osborn, to the north line of the state, and extended east into what was then Franklin County, thus making the north line of Greene County on the line between the eighth and ninth ranges of townships, two miles north of Osborn, and four miles north of Yellow Springs, and four miles and 73-100 north of the bank of the river and present corner of Greene and Clark counties at Clifton, and five and one half miles north of the present southeast corner of Clark County and corner also to Madison County.

Greene County was again reduced on its northern boundary by the organization of Clark County, in 1817. Clark County being formed from Greene, Madison and Champaign. The new boundary of Greene, or the line of Greene and Clark being as follows: from a point in the east line of Greene County, about three miles south of Charleston, west five miles to a point one and one half miles west of Selma; thence north one half mile, to a point northeast of Holloway's house; thence west to the line between townships four and five in the eighth range near Clifton; thence north with township line to the line between sections three and four; thence west with said sectional line to the line of the third township, northwest of Yellow Springs; thence north with said line to the sectional line between the fourth and fifth tier of sections in said range; thence west with said line to the east line of Montgomery County, near Osborn. This boundary line, as above described, between Clark and Greene counties, left the house of General Benjamin Whiteman, east of Clifton, in the new county of Clark. Gen. Whiteman, preferring to remain in Greene County, procured the passage of a law in January, 1819, changing this third course of the boundary, passing through Clifton, so that it should run north of his house and leave him in Greene County. This line is described as follows: from the line running north one half mile (west of Selma), such a course west (north of west) as will strike the line between townships four and five on the north side of the Little Miami River, in the eighth range. And thus remains the northern boundary of Greene County, that in 1803 extended to the lakes.

The west line of Greene County was never changed from its original location. Beginning at the southeast corner of Montgomery County, in the north line of Warren County, and in the east line of section No. 10, in the third township and fifth range, and 70.82 rods south of the southwest corner of section No. 10 of said township; thence north with sectional lines to the northwest corner of section No. 9, in township No. 2, in the eighth range; thence east two miles to the southwest corner of section No. 34, in the line of townships 2 and 3; thence north with said line and the west line of section 34, to the northwest corner of said section, northwest of Osborn.

The east line of Greene County has not been changed since the original location. The county extended from the Montgomery county line east to the west line of Ross County, and then continued east eight miles into Ross County, giving to Greene County a strip of territory eight miles in width off of Ross. The original west line of Ross County was located one and one third miles west of the Paintersville and Port William road, as now located, measured on the county line, or eight miles west of the present southeast corner of Greene County. This original line of Ross County passing through this point in the south line of Greene County ran north, passing a short distance (about one half mile) east of Paintersville, New Jasper and Cedarville.

TOWNSHIPS.

Greene County was organized into four Townships on the 10th day of May, 1803. The organization of Townships was the first act of the first court, 47 days after the organization of the court. The Townships organized were Sugar Creek, Caesar's Creek, Mad River and Beaver Creek.

SUGAR CREEK TOWNSHIP began in the west line of the county, at the northwest corner of section 19, in the sixth range, and extended south about seven miles, to the southwest corner of the county; thence east with the south line of the county eight and six tenths miles, to a point four miles east of the river. This point, four miles east of the Miami River, is a point in the south line of the county, fourteen rods west of the west line of the present cemetery lot, east of New Burlington, and east of the house of Jesse Compton, and west of the present southeast corner of Spring Valley Township; from this point Sugar Creek Township extended north to a point due east from the beginning, about two miles southwest of the city of Xenia; and thence west to the beginning. Thus including all of Sugar Creek and nearly all of Spring Valley townships, as now organized, and the southwest part of Xenia Township.

CAESAR'S CREEK TOWNSHIP, as originally organized, began at the northeast corner of Sugar Creek Township, as above described, and ran thence north, passing west of the city of Xenia, to the Miami River, at the mouth of Massie's Creek; and thence east to the east line of the county, and with the east line of the county south to the southeast corner of the county; and with the south line of the county west to the east line of Sugar Creek Township, as above described, east of New Burlington; thence north to the beginning. Thus including all the southeastern part of the county.

MAD RIVER TOWNSHIP included all that part of the county north of the south boundary of the tenth range of townships in what is now Clark County. Thus extending from a point eight miles north of Osborn, north to the north line of the state, and east and west the entire width of Greene County, as originally organized.

BEAVER CREEK TOWNSHIP originally comprehended the remaining part of the county: that is all the territory north of a line east from the mouth of Massie's Creek, and all the northwest part of the county north of Sugar Creek Township, bounded on the north by the south line of the tenth range. The then village of Springfield was in Beaver Creek Township, and the site of Xenia City was in Caesar's Creek Township.

Greene County was established on the 24th day of March, 1803, thirty-three days after Ohio became a state, and the twenty-third day of the first legislature at Chillicothe.

XENIA TOWNSHIP was organized August 20th, 1805, and included a part of now Clark County.

BATH TOWNSHIP was organized on March 2d, 1807, and extended two miles north of Osborn, now in Clark County.

MIAMI TOWNSHIP was organized in 1808, and included a part of now Clark County. It also included the north part of what is now Cedarville and Ross townships.

SILVER CREEK TOWNSHIP was organized March 4th, 1811, and included all of what is now Jefferson Township, and a part of Spring Valley Township.

ROSS TOWNSHIP was organized also on the 4th day of March, 1811, and was taken from Xenia Township.

CEDARVILLE TOWNSHIP was organized Dec. 6th, 1850, and was taken from Xenia, Caesar's Creek, Ross and Miami townships.

NEW JASPER TOWNSHIP was organized June 9th, 1853, and was taken from Caesar's Creek, Xenia, Cedarville, Ross and Silver Creek townships.

SPRING VALLEY TOWNSHIP was organized Dec. 2d, 1856, and was taken from Sugar Creek, Caesar's Creek and Xenia townships.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP was organized June 7th, 1858, and taken from Silver Creek Township.

VANCE TOWNSHIP. This Township included a part of what is now Madison Township in Clark County, and Ross Township in Greene County. But after the organization of Clark County, in 1817, that part of Vance Township remaining in Greene County, was on the 18th day of October, 1818, attached to Ross Township, Greene County. And the north part of Vance Township taken into Clark County became a part of Madison Township, Clark County. And as no record has been found showing the date of the organization of this township by Greene County, I here produce a copy of a survey made in 1812, by direction of the Commissioners of Greene County, for the establishment of Vance Township. This record can speak for itself.

Pursuant to an order from the Honorable, the Board of Commissioners of Greene County, I proceeded on the 31st day of December, 1812, to survey and lay off Vance Township as follows, viz.: Beginning at a stake and white oak, northeast corner of section No. 30, in township 5, and range 8; thence south with the line of the section (crossing a branch at 3 miles and 17 poles, and the north fork of the Little Miami, at 8 miles and 143 poles, again at 3 miles and 169 poles) 4 miles and 135 poles, to the Little Miami River; thence south 173, east 2 miles and 202 poles, to three elms and burr oak, corner to Ross Township; thence east 7 miles to three white oaks in the line of Greene County, corner also to Ross Township; thence north (crossing the east fork of the Little Miami at three miles and 255 poles, and a branch at 5 miles and 129 poles) 7 miles, to a black oak, white oak and hickory, corner to Greene County; thence west (crossing a branch at 136 poles, and the north fork of the Little Miami at 6 miles and 196 poles) 7 miles and 242 poles, to the beginning.

(Signed) SAMUEL KYLE, Surveyor.

January 2d, 1813.

ROBERT HANNA, M. K.

The county was divided into townships by the Associate Judges at their first session, on May 10th, 1803. The first session of this Court was held at the house of Owen Davis, in Beaver Creek Township. This house stood on the farm now owned by J. H. Harbine, and a short distance south of Mr. Harbine's present residence, near the banks of Beaver Creek. The officers of this court were William Maxwell, Benjamin Whiteman and James Barrett, Judges; and John Paul, Clerk. The office of County Commissioner was created Feb. 14th, 1804. The first Commissioners of Greene County were Jacob Smith, James Snodon and John Sterrett, and the first session of the Commissioner's court was held at the house of Owen Davis, occupied by Peter Borders as a tavern, and being the same house in which the Associate Judges met, thus being dwelling house, tavern and court house combined.

TOWNS.

XENIA. The original proprietor of the site of Xenia was John Paul, who donated the public square, on which the present court house stands, to the public. The town was laid out in 1803-4, and the surveyor was Joseph O. Vance. The population of Xenia in 1890 was 7,901.

BOWERSVILLE, in Jefferson Township, was originally laid out in 1848, by Christopher Husey, the surveyor was Samuel T. Owens—the county surveyor at that time, and Reason Barnaster and Geo. White, chairman. Bowersville receives two mails daily; one arriving at 11 o'clock a. m., from Jamestown, and one at 4 o'clock p. m., from Resseville. There are three drygoods stores, two groceries, one drug store, two blacksmith shops, one wagon shop, three feed stables, two hotels, two grain elevators, one saw mill, one tile mill and a telephone office. The town is situated on a branch of the Ohio Southern Railroad, and has a population of about 400 inhabitants.

BELLBROOK, in Sugar Creek Township, is one of the pioneer towns of the county. The site was originally owned by Stephen Bell, James Clancey and Henry Opdike. The town was originally laid out Feb. 10th, 1816. It receives one mail daily by way of Spring Valley. The town is located on Sugar Creek, and about one mile west of the Little Miami River. The town is surrounded by hills, and has good roads leading to Dayton, Xenia, Spring Valley and Waynesville. It is four miles from Bellbrook to Spring Valley, the nearest railroad station, on the Cincinnati, Xenia & Columbus, or Little Miami Railroad. There is one weekly newspaper published. Here is the famous Magnetic Springs, on the site of which has been recently built a very neat, commodious and up-to-date hotel, managed by Mr. Perry Pass. The population is about 450.

BYRON is a small town about seven miles northwest of Xenia, in Bath Township, on the Yellow Springs and Dayton pike. It has a population of about 50 inhabitants, and receives one mail daily each way from Xenia and Fairfield.

CLIFTON is situated in Greene and Clark counties, on the Little Miami River. The town was laid out by Timothy G. Bates and Bennet Lewis, in 1838. The surveyor was Robert Watson, the county surveyor. The river passes on the west and south sides of the town through the cliffs, which are very deep, forming very fine natural scenery. The fine country roads radiating from Clifton, and the fine natural scenery in and about the cliffs, make the town a pleasant resort for picnic parties and holiday outings. The splendid water power afforded by the river, as it passes over and through these cliffs, should mark the place as an object point to any kind of manufacturing enterprise. Clifton has a population of about 300, and receives one mail daily by way of Cedarville.

CEDARVILLE was originally laid out by Jesse Newport and William Newport, the record dating June 29th, 1816. The first name of the town was Milford, but was changed to Cedarville, for the sake of postal facilities, there being other towns in the state named Milford. Cedarville is located on Massie's Creek, and on the Cincinnati, Xenia & Columbus Railroad, about nine miles northeast of Xenia. The great and inexhaustible quantity of limestone in and about Cedarville make it one of the principal points in the state for the manufacture of lime, which is carried on extensively by D. S. Irvin & Co. Cedarville is one of the principal towns of the county. Its citizens are thrifty and enterprising, and are engaged in many mercantile and mechanical trades, among which we might mention the paper mills operated by the Hager Strawboard Company; S. K. Mitchell, saw and planing mill and general lumber business; the Andrew Brothers, grocery, hardware, grain elevator, and grain trade generally; and the flouring mills of Robert Ervin; and a weekly newspaper. The population is 1,355.

JAMESTOWN was laid out and recorded on the 1st day of June, 1816. The original proprietors of the town site were Thomas Browder and Martin Mendenhall. Jamestown is situated ten miles east of Xenia, on the Dayton & Southeastern Branch of the C. H. & D. Railroad, in the township of Silver Creek. It is one of the most wide-awake, enterprising and prosperous towns in the county. Being located in a fine agricultural district, the products of the country are abundant and of all kinds, and the town affords ample facility for purchase and shipment. The mercantile and mechanical trades are well represented and energetically pursued. There is one weekly newspaper. The population is 1,104.

PAINTERSVILLE was laid out by Jesse Painter, on Sept. 12, 1837. It is a small village in Caesar's Creek Township, of about 100 inhabitants. It has two groceries, one saddler, two blacksmith shops, and one saw mill. The mail arrives from Wilmington by way of Port William, at 6 o'clock p. m., and leaves at 6-10 p. m. for Port William, daily.

OLD TOWN was laid out by John Jacoby and John Neim-sick, in March, 1838. The town is located on the site of the Indian village belonging to the Shawnee Indians, which was burnt by them on the approach of General Clarke's forces, in 1780. The Indian name of the town was Chillicothe. The town is three miles north of Xenia, on the Little Miami Railroad. The town has one grocery, one church and a good school, one blacksmith shop, and the flouring mill of Joseph Crummett, one half mile north of the town. There is one mail from Xenia, daily. The population is about 50.

YELLOW SPRINGS was laid out by William Mills, in 1853, and is situated on the Little Miami Railroad, nine miles northeast of Xenia, in Miami Township. It was at first called Forrest Village, but finally derived its name from the sulphur springs on the east side of the village, where the landscape is cut by deep ravines and cliffs, and presents a fine scenery, and is popular as a pleasure resort. Here is also the site of Antioch College, an institution of learning once presided over by Horace Mann, and which has a national reputation. The town of Yellow Springs is one of the largest and principal towns of the county. It is well laid out. Its streets are broad and improved. Its hotel (the Yellow Springs House) is large and pleasantly located. The town has a population of 1,875, and a weekly newspaper.

FAIRFIELD was laid out in 1816, March 12, by Joseph Tatman, and Samuel C. and Wm. Cozad. It is located in Bath Township, and is one of the pioneer towns of the county. Its site consists of 40 acres in the south part of section No. 27, and is situated in the center of Mad River Valley, and at the head of Beaver Creek Valley. In these valleys are found some of the finest farming lands in the state. Fairfield is one and one half miles southeast of Osborn, which is located on the N.Y.P.&O., and the C.C.C.&St.L. Railroads, and which give ample facilities for shipment to the markets of the east or west. It has a population of 400.

OSBORN was laid out in May, 1851, by John Cox and Samuel E. Stafford, on the north line of the county, in Bath Township. It is an enterprising business town, and is one of the best grain markets in the county. There are two large flouring mills operated by Tranchant and Fennell; one whip factory operated by the Ohio Whip Company; two large grain elevators, one of which is managed by Isaac Hastetter, and one in connection with a flouring mill is operated by the Farmers' Milling and Shipping Company. The mercantile and mechanical trades are well represented. There is one weekly newspaper. The morality of the community is well and favorably indicated by the number, neatness and substantial character of its churches. Its educational interests are well and commodiously provided for. The population of Osborn is about 900.

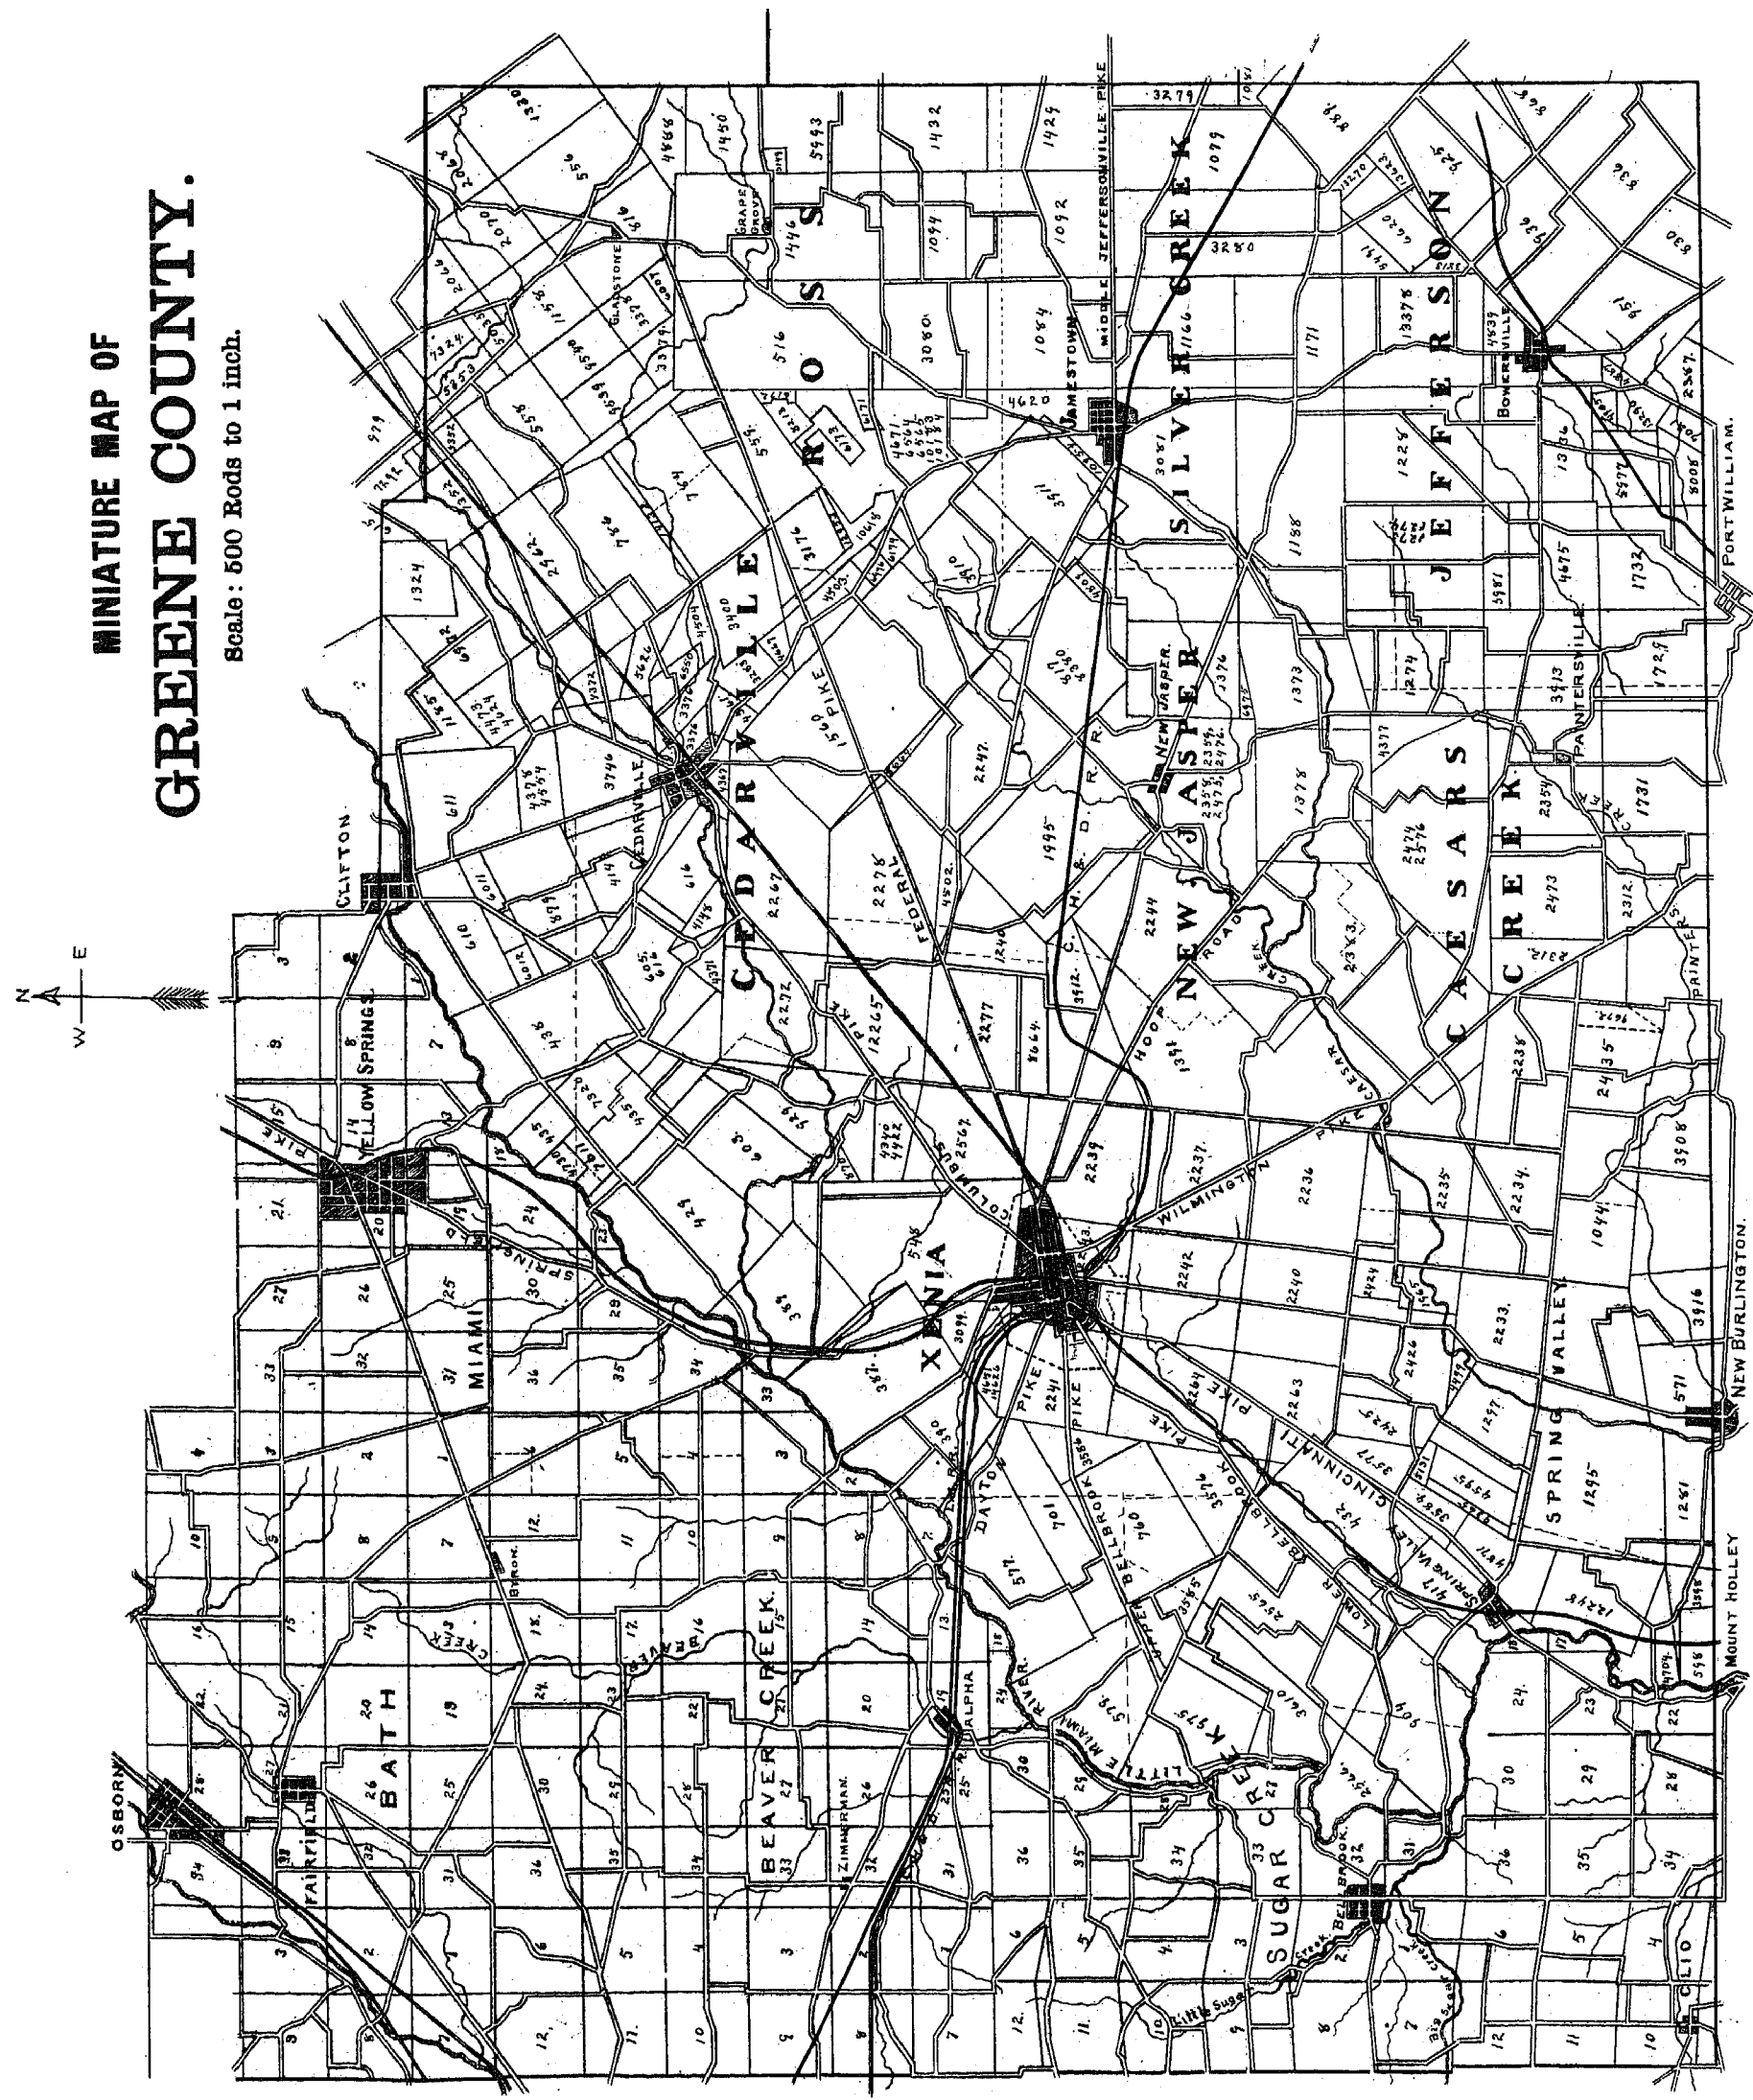

SPRING VALLEY, in Spring Valley Township, was laid out in 1842, by Edward and Moses Walton, on the Little Miami Railroad, and on the east side of the Little Miami River. It took its name from the numerous springs flowing from the hills by which the town is bounded on the east. The town is very pleasantly located at the foot of the hills along the east side of the valley. The principal business of the town, at present, is its grain and milling trade carried on by Swayne Barrett. It has all the mercantile and mechanical trades usually found in a small prosperous village. It has one good hotel, owned and managed by M. W. Zantmeyer, and one weekly newspaper. Very few of the first settlers of the town and its vicinity are living. There is one who is approaching closely to his ninetieth year, and who saw the Miami Valley when it was swamp and wilderness. Moses Walton was one of the original owners of the town site, and to him much credit is due for the growth, enterprise and prosperity of the place.

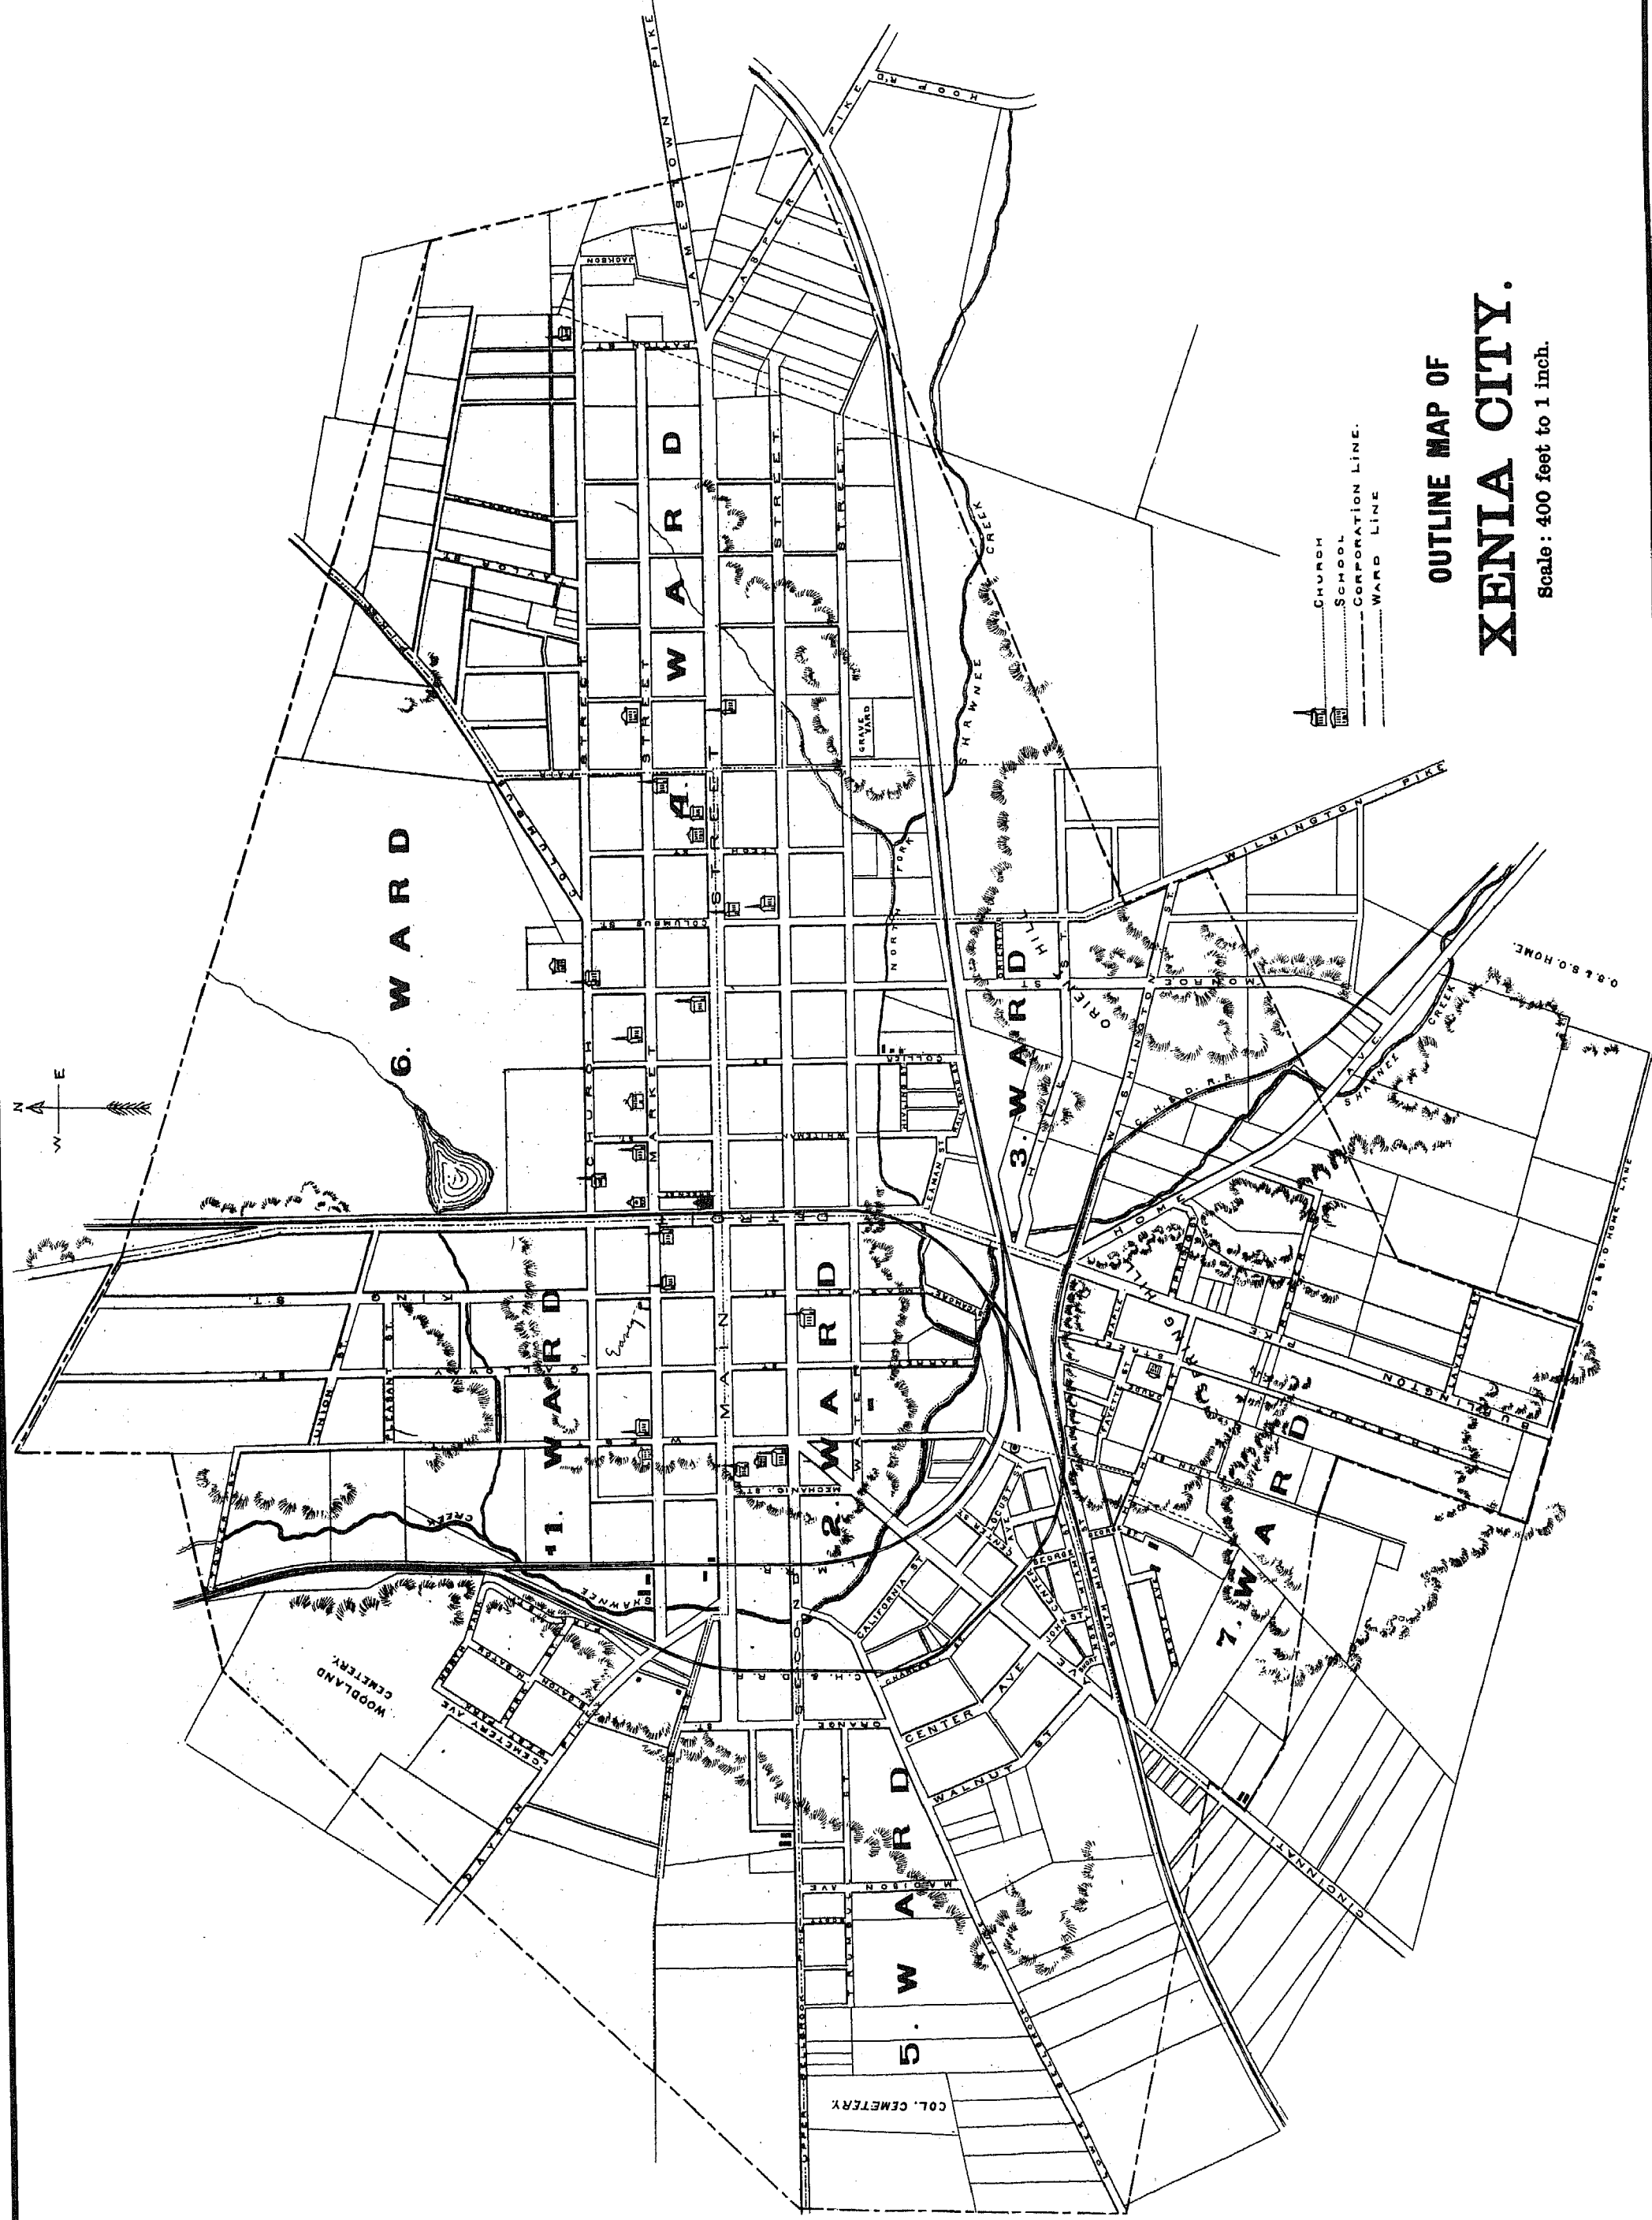

ALPHA was laid out in 1854, by John Harbine and Wm. J. Needles. It is located on the Xenia & Dayton Railroad, a branch of the Pan Handle, in Beaver Creek Township. Being situated in a fine farming country, the Beaver Creek Valley, it is a good point for the grain and shipping business, which is conducted by J. H. Harbine. A short distance south of Alpha, as heretofore mentioned, was the site of the first court house in the county. The population is about 75. There is one mail each way daily, from Xenia and Dayton.

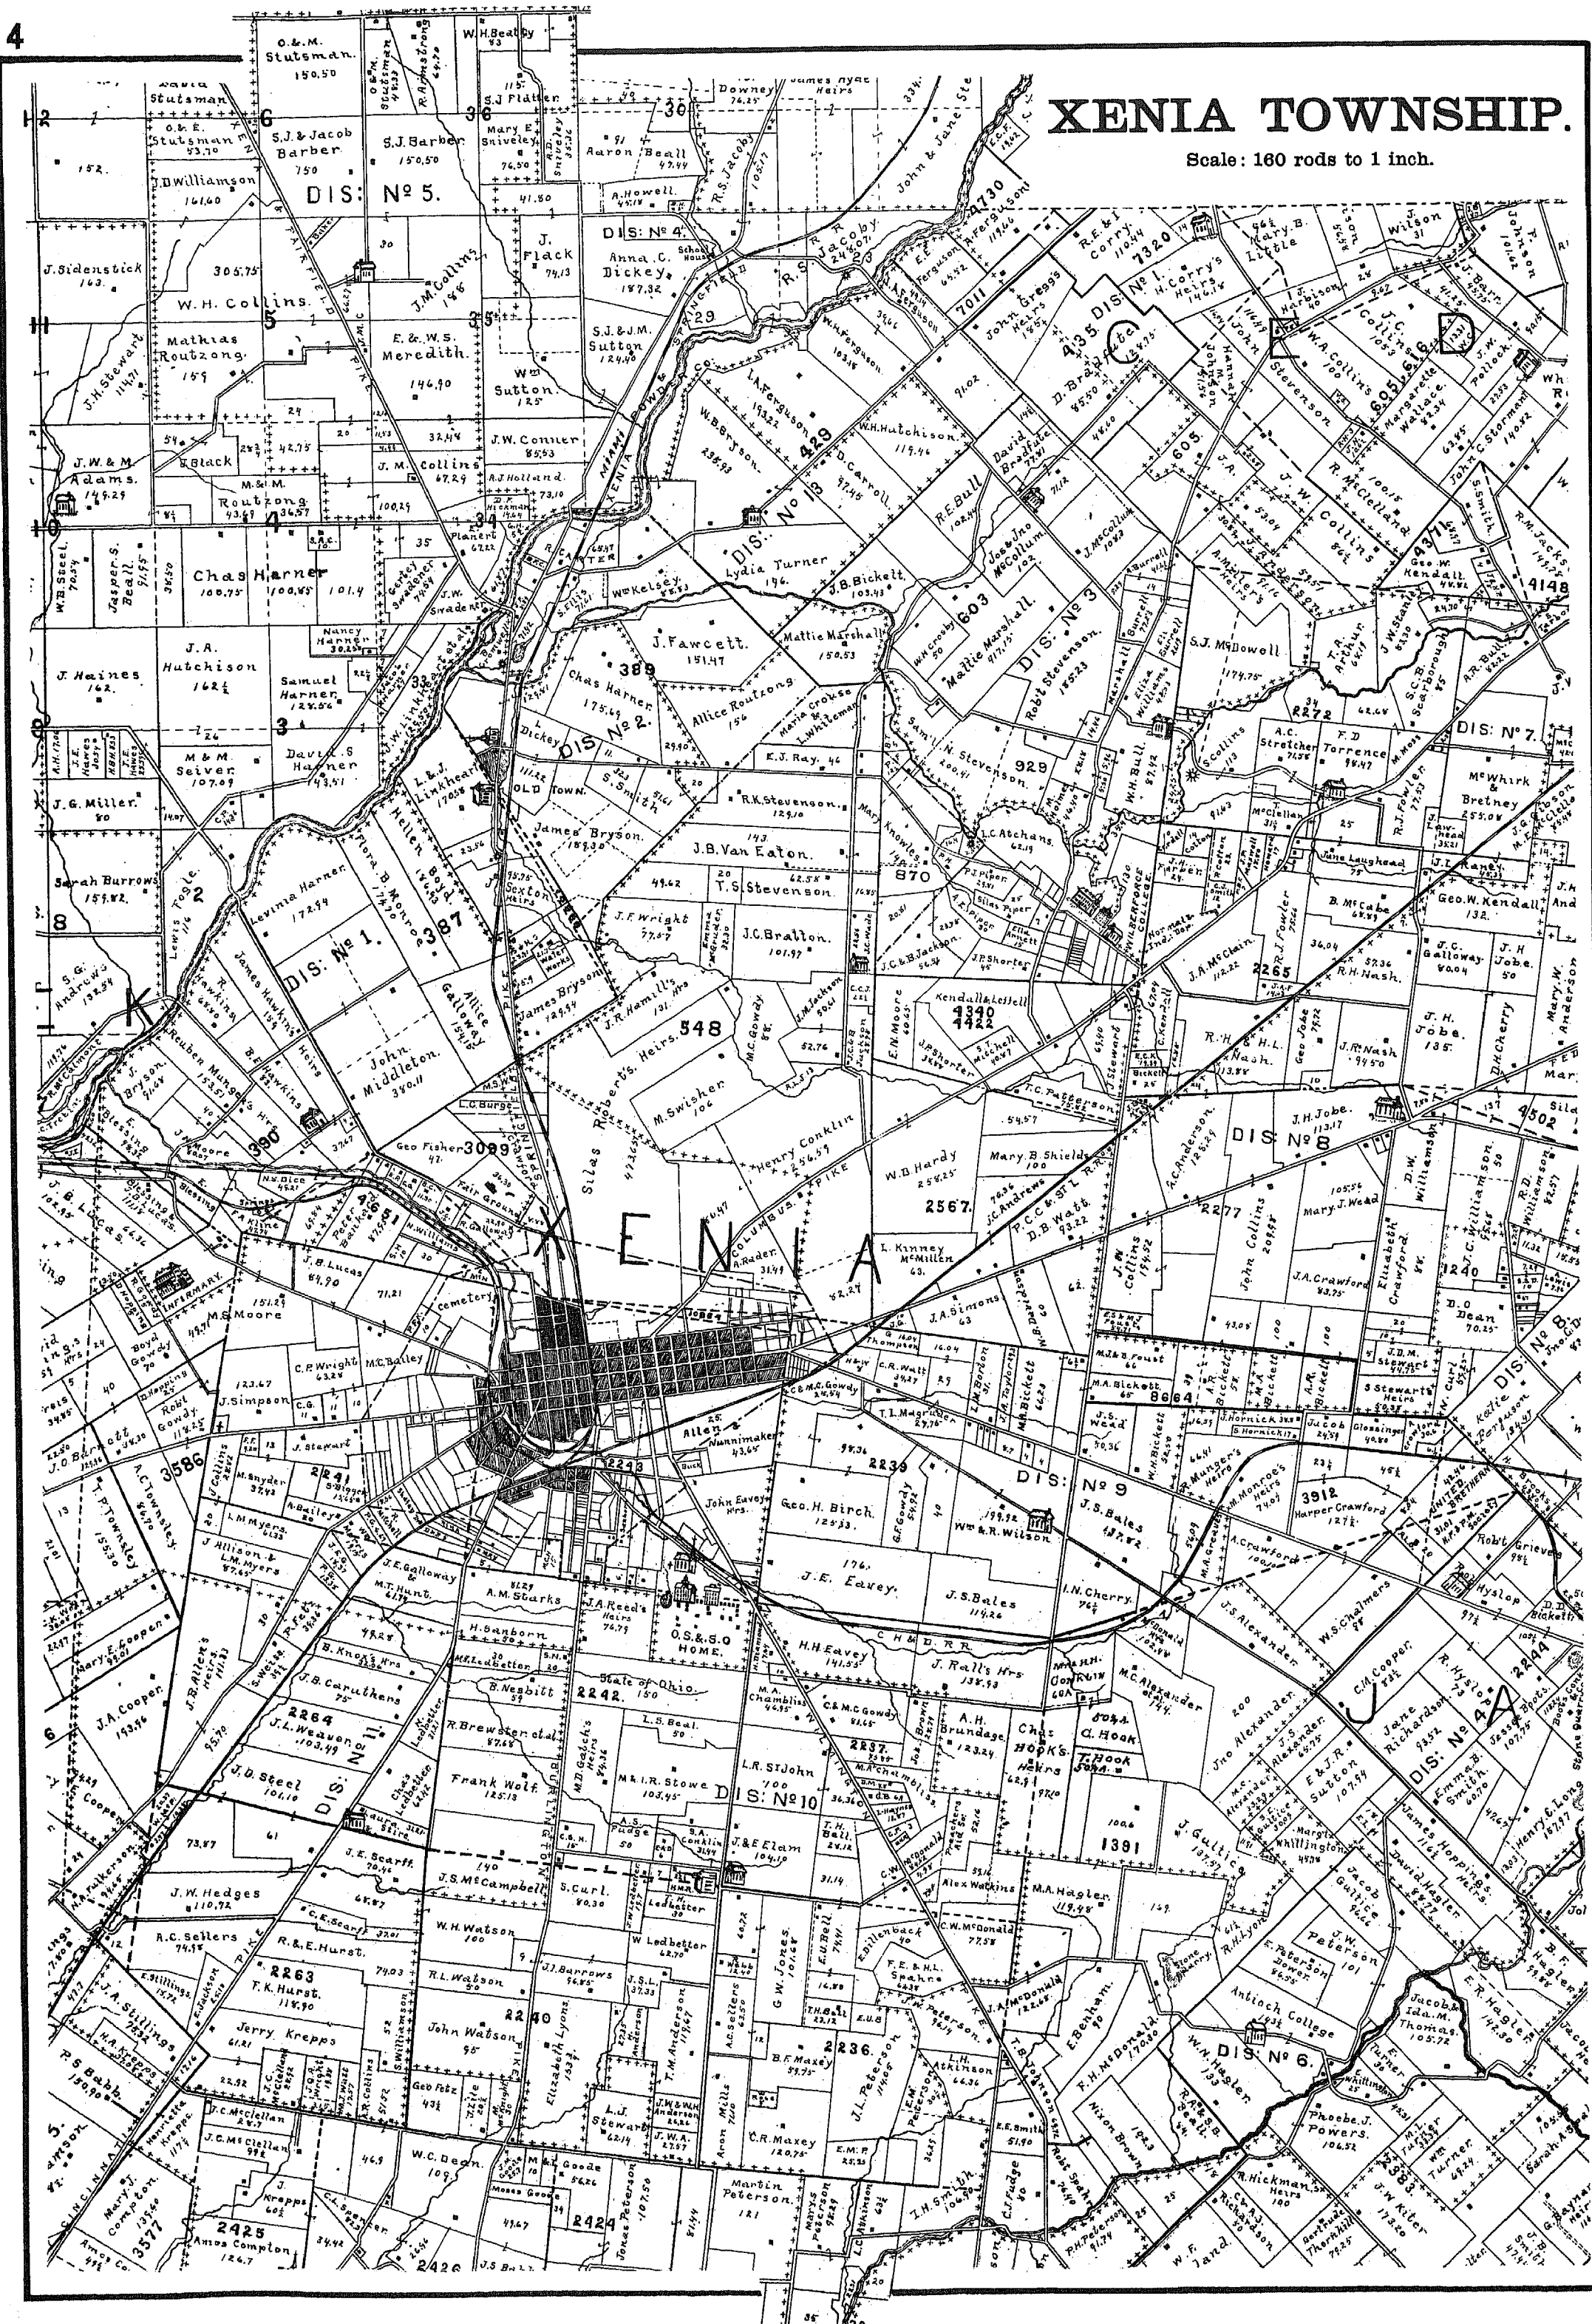

ZIMMERMAN is a small town in Beaver Creek Township, about two and one half miles west of Alpha, on the Xenia & Dayton Railroad. Here is the flouring mill and saw mill owned and operated by John Shantz, who is extensively engaged in the milling and lumber business. The town is situated one half mile north of the railroad. The station on the railroad is called Shoup's Station, but the name of the post office is Zimmerman. The town has a population about 100. There is one mail each way daily, from Xenia and Dayton.

TREBINE'S STATION is a station on the Xenia & Dayton Railroad, about three miles west of Xenia. Here is located the flouring mills, grain elevator and distillery owned and operated by F. O. Trebine. There is one mail each way between Xenia and Dayton, daily.

WILBERFORCE is situated about three miles northeast of the city of Xenia. It is surrounded by hills, deep ravines and fine springs. The location is healthy and well adapted to the purposes of the institution. The site was formerly occupied as a summer resort, under the name of Xenia Springs Company. The University was organized and dedicated in 1856: the Rev. Edward Thompson, DD., LL.D., President of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and afterwards a Bishop of the M. E. Church, officiating. The school was largely patronized by southern people until the beginning of the Civil War. In 1863 the property was sold to the A. M. E. Church, for the sum of $10,000. Its management since that time deserves much credit for the skill, energy and perseverance by which the officers of the institution have placed it upon its present solid financial basis, and equipped it with substantial, commodious and well arranged buildings and improved surroundings.
