We think you've got what it takes to work on a special project collecting artifacts from Ohio presidential sites for a special exhibit at the White House.

Are you up for the challenge?

We've identified a number of objects belonging to Ohio presidents and we think you have the know-how and leadership skills to help us deliver them to the White House for the big exhibition.

Think you're up to the task?

Use this map as your guide to travel around the state collecting artifacts and stamps as you complete challenges, solve puzzles, deliver officer's swords, and make your way on the road to the White House!
