Memorial/Decoration Day Ceremony

On May 30th everyone will gather at the church cemetery, as has been the custom for the last couple of decades, to pay our respects to those who gave their lives to preserve our nation in the Great Civil War. Short speeches of remembrance will be delivered, and flowers will be laid at the graves of the fallen heroes. It is hoped that next year we won't be laying flowers at the graves of villagers who might fall in the current war.

Muscular Christianity

Developing the Body as Well as the Soul

The advent of the Industrial Revolution, that has engulfed our country for the past two decades, has led to the growth in Christian Dynamism or a movement better known as Muscular Christianity. The Industrial Revolution has transformed America from the agrarian society of old into one dominated by factories and new technology. Workers now toil in factories for hours on end behind huge machines. Little is physically required of the workers and thus we see the deterioration of the fitness of the American population. For the consumers the same can be said to be true. New products abound that save us much labor. At the same time the new technologies have led to withered bodies and a moral softening. On the positive side, the Industrial Revolution has led to more leisure time. Before the Industrial Revolution there was no time for games and in some quarters it was even frowned upon. Now we are finding that these activities can be beneficial. While this is helpful for both genders, it is especially beneficial for the men of this country. It keeps us from becoming a country of molly coddlers instead of vigorous men. As in the past, the future growth of our great nation lies in the hands of vigorous god-fearing men. Prior to the Civil War women dominated the church and therefore Jesus was portrayed as a rather effeminate character. One of the goals of Muscular Christianity is to bring men back into the church. Jesus's image is now that of a real man.

Muscular Christianity is a philosophical movement that originated in England in the mid-19th century. It is characterized by a belief in patriotic duty, manliness, the moral and physical beauty of athleticism, teamwork, discipline, self-sacrifice, and the expulsion of all that is effeminate, and excessively intellectual. The essence of muscular Christianity is that it is a good thing to have strong and well-exercised bodies. A man's body is given him to be trained and brought into subjection, and then used for the protection of the weak, the advancement of all righteous causes, and the subduing of the earth which God has given to us. Muscular Christianity spread to the United States in a major way in the mid 1880's when it was introduced on many college campuses. The values of Muscular Christianity have resonated well with the YMCA's emphasis on physical well-being as a goal of the Christian life and helped create a more positive and accommodating attitude toward sport within conservative Protestantism and the broader American culture. The association of healthy bodies with healthy faith inevitably has pointed to sport as a means of physical and spiritual enrichment.

Council Meets

Tough Decisions in the Future

As the Ohio Village rapidly moves toward the 20th century the Town Council met the other night to discuss some important issues that will be facing our town. One of the issues facing the town is the lighting of the streets. As the town grows, so must the lighting of our streets. As most townsfolk are aware, the limited lighting that we now have is provided by gas lamps. If the number of lamps were doubled then the village would have adequate lighting for the foreseeable future. This would also double the amount of gas being used and also the cost of lighting the village streets. A cheaper method of lighting would be to use electricity as Westerville, Worthington, and Columbus have done. While cheaper to operate this would also entail an initial cost for installation.

Another issue that was brought up at the council meeting was the increasing appearance of horseless carriages on our streets. The noise being generated by these vehicles is scaring the horses. Reckless operation of these vehicles at speeds up to 35 miles per hour also represents a danger to our town's people. The question facing the council is should these machines be regulated and if so, how? The last issue that was discussed at the meeting was the providing of water and sewage disposal for the town. State law states that any village in Ohio must provide such services once that village reaches a population of 500. The village will soon reach that threshold. This would be a great step forward for those living and working in the village. Each building in the village would be able to have running water and have a water closet if one desired. The negative side to this is that the town has to find a way to pay for the installation of this service. Of course that can only be done through higher taxes that we would all have to pay. Because of the complexities of these issues the members of the town council are asking the citizens of the Ohio Village to offer their input as to what direction they would like to see the council go in dealing with these developments. Our council members, Henry Klostermann, William Wurst, Les Grimm, Alberta Davis, and TJ Bates, ask that you attend next month's town council meeting or seek them out at their places of business.

Arts Committee This group practices painting and drawing.

We welcome all village women to join any or all committees which interest them. Most meetings take place in the H and P, although larger groups may meet in the Town Hall or the Church on occasion.

Columbus Senators

Professional baseball flourishes in Columbus at Neal Park. For those people in the village wishing to see a professional baseball game it is not necessary to travel all the way to Cleveland or Cincinnati. Yes, this is minor league baseball, but we can assure you it is of the highest quality. It is also about as competitive a sport as you will see in central Ohio. It is not for the faint of heart. The Senators play in the Western League against teams from Indianapolis, Chicago, Des Moines, and Detroit.

Commercial Automobile Production to Begin

It is reported that by the end of 1899 The Cleveland Machine Screw Company will begin producing a small runabout for use by the general public. This vehicle, designed by Elmer A. Sperry, is an electric model powered by a motor over the rear axle. It is estimated as this time there are no more than half a dozen horseless carriages in the entire state. This could quickly change if the Sperry Coupe catches on. So far such vehicles have only been the toys of a small group of tinkerers. If Mr. Sperry can convince the general public that these vehicles have some practical purpose and are affordable, then he may have some success with this vehicle.

Ohio News Items

Gathered by telegraph from all parts of the state.

All counties south of Franklin: Warm and showery weather prevailed. Wheat and oat crops predicted to yield medium harvests this summer. Corn looking to be splendid.

Cincinnati--The courts began to hear testimony which the state expects will bring the sausage maker to the gallows for uxoricide. The first witness was Diedrich Becknese, brother of the missing women, who reported Mr. Luetgert told him, in a nonchalant manner, that his wife had disappeared several days before and that he had not thought it worthwhile to report the matter to the police. More sensational testimony is expected.

Marietta-- At half past six, Mr. Josiah West while driving his horse home from water, had the misfortune to break his ankle. Just as the horse was returning to stable it slipped and fell, catching Mr. West underneath. His left ankle was badly broken.

Bellefontaine--In the jam and crowd at the Union Depot yesterday afternoon Miss Mollie Flesher of Williamstown, fainted. She was carried into the baggage room and Dr. Willis summoned. At last reports she was much better.

Columbus-- Julia Mack and Myrtle Murray were before the court to answer to the charge of being inmates of a house of ill fame.

They were arrested Saturday night in the house run by Louis Peaker.

Upon the advice of their attorney, they demanded a jury trial. A large number of witnesses were examined and it took the jury 10 minutes to bring a guilty verdict.

They were each fined $10 and court costs. Louis Peaker was given a fine of $40 and costs for keeping a house of ill fame.
