Sample Reviewer Forms
Ohio History Fund
For Reference Only

What follows are the forms Ohio History Fund reviewers use to evaluate your application. We provide them so you can understand how your application will be reviewed. Each question that reviewers answer is derived from the application you are completing.

An application undergoes three stages of review: 1) Technical Review, 2) Staff Review, and 3) Panel Review. The History Fund’s review process is extensive because the money it grants is voluntarily given. The History Fund must demonstrate that each project it supports fills a deep need, will have a meaningful impact, and will succeed.

1) Technical Review is the first stage of review and is undertaken to ensure that the application is complete and meets the program’s eligibility requirements. Incomplete or inaccurate items are scored on the Technical Review Check List. Panel reviewers (stage three) will consider these scores in the “Accuracy & Completeness of Application” section of their evaluation forms.

➢ Use the Grant Submission Check List here to make sure your application is complete before you submit it! Incomplete or inaccurate information could hurt your chance to receive a grant.

Applications that are a clear violation of the History Fund’s Guidelines are removed from consideration at the Technical Review stage and receive no further review. If that unfortunate circumstance arises, we will contact the applicant and note the reasons the application is ineligible.

➢ Make sure your project is eligible by reviewing the Ohio History Fund Guidelines here
Contact us with any questions!

“Technical difficulties,” such as problems with uploads, are not grounds for rejection. If we contact you about a problem, please reply promptly! The faster we, working together, can address the issue, the sooner we can forward your application for the next stage of review.

Because of the number of applications and our tight schedule, History Fund staff only has time to complete one technical review of each submission. Errors called to the attention of applicants but left uncorrected may cause an application to be disqualified or will make it less competitive. Fix all errors we point out and keep your application in the running for a grant!
Contingent on the number of applications, technical reviews are usually completed within five weeks of the application deadline.

2) Staff Review is the second stage of application review. Ohio History Connection staff experts review projects in their areas of expertise to ensure the proposals are realistic and achievable (e.g. staff of the State Historic Preservation Office reviews Bricks & Mortar proposals, curators > museum exhibit proposals, Digitization Services staff > digitization projects, etc.).

Panel reviewers (stage three) use the context provided by a staff reviewer as they evaluate applications. Staff reviewers are enjoined from making funding recommendations.

Staff Review are usually completed two months after the application deadline, depending on the number of applications.

3) Panel Review is the third and final stage of application review. This stage is completed by a panel of non-Ohio History Connection experts from fields represented by History Fund grants. It is this outside panel that makes funding recommendations.

Depending on the types of applications received, the review panel includes historic preservationists, local historians, digitization experts, archivists, museum curators, academic historians, archaeologists, etc. The outside review panel reads grant applications and technical and staff review comments and meets to make funding recommendations.

Panel reviews are usually completed five months after the application deadline, contingent on the number of applications.

Staff Review Comments

INSTRUCTIONS
Thank you for sharing your expertise as a staff reviewer for the Ohio History Fund. The program has a three-stage review process, and you are a part the second stage. The first stage is the Ohio History Fund's "technical review." The third stage is review by our panel of outside experts.

It is the responsibility of our outside expert review panel to make funding recommendations to the executive director. Your responsibility as a staff reviewer is not to make recommendations for funding, but instead to provide context upon which our panelists rely. It is very important to make objective critiques of applications. Our review panel members use your comments to form their recommendations.

Use the questions below to guide your review and refer to the History Fund's Grant Guidelines and Application found here. Note the strengths and shortcomings the proposal. Share shortcomings in the spirit of offering constructive, helpful feedback. Comments will be shared with applicants. Names and affiliations of reviewers will not be shared.

If you have additional questions, please contact Andy Verhoff, State Historic Preservation Office, 614-562-4490 (cell); 614-297-2341 (office): or averhoff@ohiohistory.org. Thank you again!
1) Statement of Need*
   • Is it clear what this project will accomplish? Why or why not?
   • Why is the historical information this project would preserve and/or disseminate important? Or, if this is an Organizational Development proposal, will the project enable the applicant to better achieve its mission?
   • How compelling is the need for this project at this time?

   Character Limit: 1500

2) Description of Impact*
   • How well will the project serve the audiences identified in the application?
   • How clear are the measures for evaluating the project?

   Character Limit: 1500

3) Project Design & Resources*
   • How well can project be accomplished with the staffing, budget, and schedule proposed?

   Character Limit: 1500

4) Professional Standards*
   • How well would the project apply professional standards and best practices for the relevant field(s)? Which ones? For the standards and best practices that the Ohio History Fund recommends to applicants, go the History Fund Guidelines here and see the section called "Apply Professional Standards & Best Practices"

   Character Limit: 1500

5) Other Comments
   Please share any additional comments that would be helpful other reviewers and the applicant.

Panel Reviewer Comments & Scoring

INSTRUCTIONS

Thank you for serving as a review panelist. You will evaluate applications using criteria outlined in the Ohio History Fund Grant Guidelines. To check the completeness of an application, see the Grant Submission Check List.

Click here to access the Guidelines, Check List, and all application materials.

In the "Comments & Score" areas below...

- Use the questions in each section to guide your comments.
- Note the strengths and shortcomings the proposal. Share shortcomings in the spirit of offering constructive, helpful feedback.
- Award points by section and record point totals at the end, where indicated.
- Scores are based on a 100 point scale. See the bottom of this form for explanations of scoring ranges (100-90 points, 89-80, 79-70, 69 and below).
- Comments and scores should align. It's confusing when a reviewer only praises a project, offers no constructive criticism, and then gives the application a low score.

Comments and scores will be shared with applicants. Names and affiliations of reviewers will not be shared. The highest scoring projects will be recommended for funding. Projects may receive full or partial funding.

Conflict of Interest Policy
Care has been taken to avoid conflicts of interest or the appearance of conflict of interest among review panelists, the grants under review, and the Ohio History Connection. See the History Fund's Conflict of Interest Policy for situations in which such a condition exists.
• If a conflict does exist, write "recuse" in comments sections of this form. Do not numerically score the application.

STATEMENT OF NEED (0 - 25 points):*
• Is it clear what the project will accomplish? Why or why not?
• Why is the historical information this project would preserve and/or disseminate important? Or, if this is Organizational Development proposal, will the project enable the applicant to better achieve its mission?
• How compelling is the need for this project at this time?

COMMENTS & SCORE (0-25):
Character Limit: 2500

DESCRIPTION OF IMPACT (0 - 25 points):*
• How well will the project serve the audience(s) identified in the application?
• Are the measures identified for evaluating the project suitable? Why or why not?

COMMENTS & SCORE (0-25):
Character Limit: 2500

PROJECT DESIGN & RESOURCES (0 - 40 points):*
• How well are the activities and schedule suited to accomplishing the project?
• How well would the project apply professional standards and best practices of field(s) relevant to this project? Which standards/best practices? For standards/best practices recommended by the Ohio History Fund see the section titled "Apply Professional Standards & Best Practices" in the Guidelines here.
• Does the proposal identify qualified people to execute the project, or indicate that qualified people will be hired? Why or why not?
• Is the budget realistic? Are sources of funding clearly articulated? Do the budget and project narrative support each other? Why or why not?

COMMENTS & SCORE (0-40):
Character Limit: 2500

ACCURACY & COMPLETENESS OF APPLICATION (0 - 10 points)
• The comments and scores in this section will help panelists break tie scores among applications. Otherwise strong applications that also show excellent attention to detail should prevail.
• Does the application seem complete and accurate overall? Why or why not?

TOTAL SCORE:*

Total Score = Statement of Need score + Description of Impact score + Project Design & Resources score + Accuracy/Completeness of Answers score (4 numbers comprise the Total Score)

This score sums up your individual evaluation of this proposal at this time, but are not considered your final scores. Later, you and the other reviewers who read this application will determine its final score and ranking for funding during review panel meetings. In these meetings you will have the opportunity to revisit and, if desired, revise the score you assigned.

Explanations of Scoring Ranges:

- 100 - 90 points - application is strong in all areas, excepting a few minor concerns. The need for the project at this time is compelling, its impact is clear, and the project design is well thought out. The application is complete and accurate.

- 89 - 80 points - application is strong in most areas but not all. The need for the project is clear, but not strongly compelling at this time. The project's impact could be clearer. The project design is understood, but there are minor gaps in the plan. The overall content and accuracy of the application is suitable, despite minor concerns.

- 79 - 70 points - the statement of need and description of impact are somewhat clear, but additional explanation in these areas would make the application more persuasive. Gaps in the project design and/or persistent concerns about the overall content and accuracy of the application make it less competitive.

- 69 points and below - the following are not clear and require further explanation before the application can compete more robustly: statement of need, description of impact, and/or project design/resources/budget.
